Help-Our-Planet-Earth (HOPE) Paul Watterworth, 2015-09-01 Robert walked towards the hospital emergency entrance The smell of death was overpowering Many of the cars blocking the ambulance entrance had their lifeless occupants slumped over the steering wheels or their heads propped against the car windows The sliding doors were propped open by more bodies of virus casualties Robert looked deeper into the dark hospital and turned around The hospital was not receiving more patients Jillian stared over the city of Hong Kong from the eighteenth floor of the luxury hotel Although it was the middle of the day the entire city was dead Not a car boat or person was moving The hotel had no water phone or electricity Despair washed over her as she thought of her children She prayed that her two boys survived the virus The problem was that they were a very large ocean away Adapting to the new world was difficult Finding and protecting your family was an even greater challenge

Planet Alicia Alexis Sixela, 2008-10-20 Traveling to another planet is also a trip inside It makes you pay a visit to some corners of your brain that are not always in working order At home everything has a length a width and a depth This is our cubist environment The stars above don't seem to have any use for our straight lines right angles and flat surfaces You don't have to go far to see that our so called normal way of thinking is only a first approximation Len our photographer fell in love on Planet Alicia That was more than he expected He went there with the idea that love is something that he produces and gives away Now he sees lovers as those double stars going through the universe dancing around each other united by their distance The transition was not easy He nearly died We went there convinced that we are the master of our ship I came back thinking that I am trying to master the wind blowing in my sails Enjoy the trip
