Blueprint for the Future National Research Council,Policy and Global Affairs,Committee on Women in Science, Engineering, and Medicine,Committee on Status and Participation of Women in STEM Disciplines and Careers,2012-11-02 The scientific work of women is often viewed through a national or regional lens but given the growing worldwide connectivity of most if not all scientific disciplines there needs to be recognition of how different social political and economic mechanisms impact women s participation in the global scientific enterprise Although these complex sociocultural factors often operate in different ways in various countries and regions studies within and across nations consistently show inverse correlations between levels in the scientific and technical career hierarchy and the number of women in science the higher the positions the fewer the number of women Understanding these complex patterns requires interdisciplinary and international approaches In April 2011 a committee overseen by the National Academies standing Committee on Women in Science Engineering and Medicine CWSEM convened a workshop entitled Blueprint for the Future Framing the Issues of Women in Science in a Global Context in Washington D C CWSEM s goals are to coordinate monitor and advocate action to increase the participation of women in science engineering and medicine The scope of the workshop was limited to women s participation in three scientific disciplines chemistry computer science mathematics and statistics The workshop presentations came from a group of scholars and professionals who have been working for several years on documenting analyzing and interpreting the status of women in selected technical fields around the world Examination of the three disciplines chemistry computer science and mathematics and statistics can be considered a first foray into collecting and analyzing information that can be replicated in other fields The complexity of studying science internationally cannot be underestimated and the presentations demonstrate some of the evidentiary and epistemological challenges that scholars and professionals face in collecting and analyzing data from many different countries and regions Blueprint for the Future Framing the Issues of Women in Science in a Global Context summarizes the workshop presentations which provided an opportunity for dialogue about the issues that the authors have been pursuing in their work to date   Blueprint ,2010

Jenlink,Karen Embry Jenlink,2019-04-13 STEM Teaching An Interdisciplinary Approach breaks from the more historical idea of making knowledge within disciplines and seeks to engage the reader in a growing conversation that is gaining momentum and is focused on an interdisciplinarity of STEM education which seeks to embrace and or present emerging perspectives on the standards Importantly the conversation on STEM education and interdisciplinary approaches to teacher preparation may draw into specific relief the respective professional and or disciplinary standards for each of the four STEM disciplines as each relates to fostering an interdisciplinary approach The importance and relevance of this interdisciplinary perspective to teacher preparation lies in the realization that STEM literacy moves into everyday lives and thinking and not just in STEM related disciplines This means that faculty in teacher preparation need to extend the range of STEM literacy in pedagogical strategies so that STEM teaching is enriched with multimodal literacies into teaching and learning which in turn makes STEM knowledge more relevant and engaging for its manifest connections to solving the problems that challenge society
