Education in Singapore Rita Elaine Silver, Wendy D. Bokhorst-Heng, 2016-01-21 This book explores Singapore's language education system. Unlike previous volumes which discuss the bilingual requirement for learning, it focuses on Singapore's quadrilingual system, bringing together articles on each of the four languages: English, Mandarin, Malay, and Tamil, as well as articles that examine more than one language. It highlights past successes, current concerns, and future directions for language education. The book focuses on classroom pedagogy in all four official languages, showcasing how languages are taught and learned in Singapore as a basis for better understanding the system from the inside out. The authors present empirical classroom-based studies on language pedagogy in all four languages, as well as updated information on the current socio-political context and how it has influenced attempts at pedagogical innovation. Consideration is given to the dialectical relationship between policy and practice. The chapters also include discussions of pre-school age learning, influences of language policy, home literacy practices, and commentaries by international language in education scholars. This approach also provides a basis for international comparison, especially for those who are interested in fostering English proficiency while maintaining one or more national languages. The volume is particularly important in light of the continuing international efforts to integrate English into national educational systems where it is not the dominant language.

National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 1983 Language strategies for the domain of colour Bleys, Joris, 2015-11-05 This book presents a major leap forward in the understanding of colour by showing how richer descriptions of colour samples can be operationalized in agent-based models. Four different language strategies are explored: the basic colour strategy, the graded membership strategy, the category combination strategy, and the basic modification strategy. These strategies are firmly rooted in empirical observations in natural languages with a focus on compositionality at both the syntactic and semantic level. Through a series of in-depth experiments, this book discerns the impact of the environment, language, and embodiment on the formation of basic colour systems. Finally, the experiments demonstrate how language users can invent their own language strategies of increasing complexity by combining primitive cognitive operators and how these strategies can be aligned between language users through linguistic interactions. A
