Making an African City Jennifer Hart, 2024-03-05 In Making an African City Jennifer Hart traces the way that British colonial officials Accra Town Council members and a diverse group of technocrats used regulation to define what an acceptable city looked like Unlike cities elsewhere on the continent Accra had a long history of urbanism that predated British colonial presence By criminalizing some activities and privileging others colonial officials sought to marginalize indigenous practices of Accra residents and shape the development of a new modern city Hart argues however that residents regularly pushed back protesting regulations refusing to participate in newly developed systems reappropriating infrastructure demanding rights to city services and asserting their own informal vision for the future of the city While urban plans and regulations ultimately failed to substantively remake the city their effects were and are still felt by urban residents who are often subject to but not served by urban infrastructure Making an African City explores how the informalization of Accra s development was a historical process not a natural and self evident phenomenon which connects the history of the city with the history of urban development and the growth of technocracy around the world

the book argues that paying attention to infrastructures past present and future allows us to understand and respond to the current urban condition

Territorial Imaginaries Kären Wigen, 2025-04-16 Fresh offerings on world mapping beyond Western conventions This strikingly colorful volume contends that modern mapping has never been sufficient to illustrate the complex reality of territory and political sovereignty whether past or present For Territorial Imaginaries editor Kären Wigen has assembled an impressive slate of experts spanning disciplines from political science to art history to contribute perspectives and case studies covering three main themes mapping before the nation state rethinking and critiquing mapping practices and robust traditions of counter cartography Each contributor proposes alternative ways to think about mapping and the essays are supported with rich archival documentation Among the far reaching case studies are Barbara Mundy's cartographic history of Indigenous dispossession in the Americas Peter Bol's examination of two Chinese maps created five hundred years apart and Ali Yaycıoğlu's exploration of tensions between top down and bottom up mapping of Habsburg and Ottoman border claims

Miami in the Anthropocene Stephanie Wakefield, 2025-01-21 Reimagining adaptation amidst climate change driven mutations of urban space and life Between its susceptibility to flooding and an ever expanding real estate market powered by global surges of people and capital Miami is an epicenter of the urban Anthropocene and a living laboratory for adaptation to sea level rise Miami in the Anthropocene explores the social environmental and technical transformations involved in climate adaptation infrastructure and imaginaries in a global city seen as climate change ground zero Using Miami as a compelling microcosm for understanding the complex interplay between urbanization and environmental upheaval in the twenty first century Stephanie Wakefield shows how aqua urban futures are being imagined for the city from governmental scenario exercises for severe weather events to proposals to transform the city's metropolitan area into an archipelago of islands connected by bridges She examines the shifts reweaving the fabric of urban life and presents designs that imagine dramatic new ways of living with water Grounded in the dynamic landscape of Miami but reaching far beyond its shores Miami in the Anthropocene delves into the broader debates shaping urban thought and practice in the Anthropocene Focusing on postresilience urban designs Wakefield illuminates the path toward a future where cities embrace opportunities for evolution rather than merely for survival

New Directions in Law and Literature Elizabeth Susan Anker, Bernadette Meyler, 2017 This collection of essays by twenty two prominent scholars from literature departments and law schools showcases the vibrancy of recent work in law and literature and highlights its many new directions since the field's heyday in the 1970s and 80s

Backstage Practices of Transnational Law Lianne J.M. Boer, Sofia Stolk, 2019-04-16 This book explores the backstage of transnational legal practice by illuminating the routines and habits that are crucial to the field yet rarely studied Through innovative discussion of practices often considered trivial the book encourages readers to conceptualise the backstage as emblematic of transnational legal practice Expanding the focus of transnational legal scholarship the book explores the seemingly mundane procedures which are often taken for granted despite being widely recognized as part of what it means to do transnational law Adopting various methodologies and approaches each chapter focuses on one specific practice for example mooted exercises for law students international travel transnational time the social media activities of lawyers and legal scholars and the networking at the ICC's annual Assembly of States Parties In and of themselves these chapters each provide unique insights into what happens before the curtain rises and after it falls on the familiar outputs of transnational law It does more however than provide a range of different practices it takes the next step in theorizing on the importance of the marginal and the everyday for what we know to be the law and what the international legal field looks like Furthermore by interrogating undiscussed academic practices it provides students with a candid view on the perils and promises of transnational legal scholarship inviting them to join the discussion and to practice their discipline in a more reflexive way Written in an accessible format containing a readable collection of personal and recognizable accounts of transnational legal practice the book provides an everyday insight into transnational law It will therefore appeal to international legal scholars alongside any reader with an interest in transnational law

The Social Imperative H. Koon Wee, 2021-07-21 This book contains multiple short critiques reflections and manifestos affording each contributing architect and intellectual the time and space to imagine new social paradigms in China Emerging from a tumultuous history of high culture and complex territorial conditions there is nothing straightforward about the social development of China The complexity of the social practices developed by architects and shapers of the built environment can be explained in part by the last three decades of an intensified adoption of the market economy by the Communist Party of China after an equally short three decades of closed door communist control There is no political meltdown like the democratization of the former Communist Bloc but there is a constant managing of discontent and resistance across China At the apex of the many creative and intellectual forces in China architects harbor and give form to many tactics of resistance Unfortunately architects are also the instruments and minds complicit with profit mongering developers and governments pursuing unchecked urbanization degradation of the environment exploitation of the marginalized and the creation of a very inequitable China This book begins with an introduction that defines the forms and tendencies of China's society as it stands today and it positions the work of a small number of architects and intellectuals who are at the forefront of reforming rethinking and even revolutionizing the Chinese society Beneath the veneer of a very successful China that the world readily acknowledges a quiet revolution is taking place within the realms of architecture and the city The social architectural and urban theories documented in this book are organized around the established canons of social actions from mobilizing laboring resisting and mediating to networking controlling rationalizing and aestheticizing This book aims to put the social agenda squarely back in the rapid development of the built environment in China This publication is the culmination of a three year study of social issues in the architecture and cities of China It involved visits to sites undergoing massive change discussions and debates among architects and critics reflections by practitioners about their own work and activists lobbying for social change Supported by the non profit AA Asia the edition of the contents relied heavily on original input and exchanges between architects and theorists committed to China from Asia and beyond Since the 1990s AA Asia remains one of a few unique think tanks committed to the study of architecture and cities in Asia As an advocacy with strong academic roots it seeks to establish the differences across various postcolonial and Asian contexts and recalibrate the role of architecture in a technocratic era dominated by the global economy With Contributions of Robert Adams Lee Ambrozy Yung Ho Chang Chen Ling Jeremy Chia Cui Kai Dong Gong Dong Yugan Mario Gandelsonas Han Tao Andrei Harwell He Jianxiang Hu Yan Hua Li Huang Weiwen Huang Wenjing Jiang Jun Jeffrey Johnson Michael Kokora Kengo Kuma Andrew Lee Joan Leung Lye Li Han Li Hu Li Shiqiao Nartano Lim William S W Lim Liu Jiakun Liu Kecheng Liu Yichun Long Ying Ma Qingyun Robert Mangurian Meng Yan Ou Ning Alan Plattus Mary Ann Ray Daan Roggeveen Ruan Hao Eunice Seng Shi Jian Victor Su Sun Yimin Wang Fei Wang Shu Wang Yan H Koon Wee Shirley Woo Wu Gang Wu Liangyong Xu Tiantian Rocco Yim Yu Kongjian Zhang Ke Zhao Liang Zhou Yi Zhu Tao Zhu

Infrastructural Brutalism Michael Truscello, 2020-09-01 How drowned town literature road movies energy landscape photography and death train narratives represent the brutality of industrial infrastructures In this book Michael Truscello looks at the industrial infrastructure not as an invisible system of connectivity and mobility that keeps capitalism humming in the background but as a manufactured miasma of despair toxicity and death Truscello terms this infrastructural brutality a formulation that not only alludes to the historical nexus of infrastructure and the concrete aesthetic of Brutalist architecture but also describes the ecological political and psychological brutality of industrial infrastructures

The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies Matthias Middell, 2018-11-08 The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies brings together the various fields within which transregional phenomena are scientifically observed and analysed This handbook presents the theoretical and methodological potential of such studies for the advancement of the conceptualization of global and area bound developments Following three decades of intense debate about globalization and transnationalism it has become clear that border crossing connections and interactions between societies are highly important yet not all extend beyond the borders of nation states or are of truly world wide reach The product of extensive international and interdisciplinary cooperation this handbook is divided into ten sections that introduce the wide variety of topics within transregional studies including Colonialism and Post Colonial Studies Spatial Formats International Organizations Religions and Religious Movements and Transregional Studies and Narratives of Globalization Recognizing that transregional studies asks about the space making and space formatting character of connections as well as the empirical status of such connections under the global condition the volume reaches beyond the typical confines of area and regional studies to consider how areas are transcended and transformed more widely Combining case studies with both theoretical and methodological considerations The Routledge Handbook of Transregional Studies provides the first overview of the currently flourishing field of transregional studies and is the ideal volume for students and scholars of this diverse subject and its related fields The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Mobility Justice Mimi Sheller, 2018-09-25 Mobility justice is one of the crucial political and ethical issues of our day We are in the midst of a global climate crisis and extreme challenges of urbanization At the same time it is difficult to ignore the deaths of thousands of migrants at sea or in deserts the xenophobic treatment of foreign born populations refugees and asylum seekers as well as the persistence of racist violence and ethnic exclusions on our front doorstep This in turn is connected to other kinds of uneven mobility relations between people access to transport urban infrastructures and global resources such as food water and energy In Mobility Justice Mimi Sheller makes a passionate argument for a new understanding of the contemporary crisis of mobility She shows how power and inequality inform the governance and control of movement connecting these scales of the body street city nation and planet into one overarching theory of mobility justice This can be seen on a local level in the differential circulation of people resources and information as well as on an urban scale with questions of public transport and the right to the city On the planetary scale she demands that we rethink the reality where tourists and other kinetic elites are able to roam freely the military origins of global infrastructure and the contested politics of migration and restricted borders Mobility Justice offers a new way to understand the deep flows of inequality and uneven accessibility of a world in which the mobility commons has been enclosed

Mediarchy Yves Citton, 2019-11-11 We think that we live in democracies in fact we live in mediarchies Our political regimes are based less on nations or citizens than on audiences shaped by the media We assume that our social and political destinies are shaped by the will of the people without realizing that the people are always produced both as individuals and as aggregates by the media we are all embedded in mediated publics intra structured by the apparatuses of communication that govern our interactions In this major book Yves Citton maps out the new regime of experience media and power that he designates by the term mediarchy To understand mediarchy we need to look both at the effects that the media have on us and also at the new forms of being and experience that they induce in us We can never entirely escape from the effects of the mediarchies that operate through us but by becoming more aware of their conditioning we can develop the new forms of political analysis and practice which are essential if we are to rise to the unprecedented challenges of our time This comprehensive and far reaching book will be essential reading for students and scholars in media and communications politics and sociology and it will be of great interest to anyone concerned about the multiple and complex ways that the media from newspapers and TV to social media and the internet shape our social political and personal lives today
