Language and Sustainable Development Lisa J. McEntee-Atalianis, Humphrey Tonkin, 2023-03-03 This book addresses the importance of language in matters of sustainability and incorporating such concerns in implementing the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). Sustainable language policy must aim to include all groups including language minorities and marginalized populations such as refugees and aid recipients in conditions that allow for their inclusion in making and implementing policy. The book brings together nine studies covering such topics as language and digital resources, sustainable and inclusive multilingual education, national language policy, and language in peacekeeping operations. A final chapter addresses the crucial intersection between sociolinguistics and economics and the implications of this for development and the SDGs.

Black African Literature in English, 1997-1999 Bernth Lindfors, 2003 This volume lists the work produced on anglophone black African literature between 1997 and 1999. This bibliographic work is a continuation of the highly acclaimed earlier volumes compiled by Bernth Lindfors. Containing about 10 000 entries, some of which are annotated to identify the authors, it covers books, periodical articles, papers in edited collections, and selective coverage of other relevant sources.

Languages, Identities and Intercultural Communication in South Africa and Beyond Russell H. Kaschula, 2021-08-23 African countries and South Africa, in particular being multilingual and multicultural societies, make for exciting sociolinguistic and applied language analysis in order to tease out the complex relationship between language and identity. This book applies sociolinguistic theory as well as critical language awareness and translanguaging with its many facets to various communicative scenarios both on the continent and in South Africa in an accessible and practical way. Africa lends itself to such sociolinguistic analysis concerning language identity and intercultural communication. This book reflects consciously on the North-South debate and the need for us to create our own ways of interpretation emanating from the South and speaking back to the North, and on issues that pertain to the South, including southern Africa. Aspects such as language and power, language planning, policy and implementation, culture, prejudice, social interaction, translanguaging, intercultural communication, education, gender, and autoethnography are covered. This is a valuable resource for students studying African sociolinguistics, language and identity, and applied language studies. Anyone interested in the relationship between language and society on the African continent would also find the book easily accessible.
