Modern Mathematics is constructed rigorously through proofs based on truths which are either axioms or previously proven theorems Thus it is par excellence a model of rational inquiry Links between Cognitive Psychology and Mathematics Education have been particularly strong during the last decades Indeed the Enlightenment view of the rational human mind that reasons makes decisions and solves problems based on logic and probabilities was shaken during the second half of the twentieth century Cognitive psychologists discovered that humans thoughts and actions often deviate from rules imposed by strict normative theories of inference Yet these deviations should not be called errors as Cognitive Psychologists have demonstrated these deviations may be either valid heuristics that succeed in the environments in which humans have evolved or biases that are caused by a lack of adaptation to abstract information formats Humans as the cognitive psychologist and economist Herbert Simon claimed do not usually optimize but rather satisfice even when solving problem This Research Topic aims at demonstrating that these insights have had a decisive impact on Mathematics Education We want to stress that we are concerned with the view of bounded rationality that is different from the one espoused by the heuristics and biases program In Simon s bounded rationality and its direct descendant ecological rationality rationality is understood in terms of cognitive success in the world correspondence rather than in terms of conformity to content free norms of coherence e g transitivity The What, Why and How of Assessment Simon Child,Paul Ellis,2021-07-21 How do teachers develop their understanding of the foundation principles of assessment stay up to date with the latest classroom approaches and have the confidence to evaluate and question the effectiveness of new methods This professional resource for teachers supports them to understand the what why and how of assessment It provides key knowledge on the types and purposes of assessment and explores key themes such as validity reliability and fairness It explores assessment in practice offering practical support for busy teachers and takes an in depth look at how qualifications are designed and developed and how examinations are marked graded and regulated Mind the gap: To national dialogue regarding best practices in teaching middle school mathematics The authors are committed to improving mathematics achievement and opportunities for students whose inherited circumstances place them at a perceptible disadvantage Most refer to said students as risks We hold the position that these students irrespective of their backgrounds possess Hidden or Unmet Potential and the unveiling of their potential can be accelerated when they are exposed to high quality mathematics teaching This book is a practitioner s guide to creative mathematics activities centered on algebraic proportional and geometric reasoning aligned with mathematics standards This approach has the potential to accelerate the mathematical confidence and accentuate the mathematical proficiencies of students Shaping Children Saskia K.

Nagel,2019-05-03 The volume offers a unique collection of articles on pediatric neuroenhancement from an international and multidisciplinary perspective In recent years the topic of neuroenhancement has become increasingly relevant in academia and practice as well as among the public While autonomous adults are free to choose neuroenhancement in children it presents its own ethical social legal and developmental issues A plethora of potential neurotechnological enhancement agents are on the market While the manifold issues surrounding the topic have been extensively discussed there is little work on the specific questions that arise in children and adolescents This book addresses this gap in the literature Next to conceptual and normative work on autonomy and self control the collection explores the implications for parenting and schooling and provides input for a discussion of public attitudes. It is a valuable resource for the different academic communities confronted with questions of how to evaluate and approach enhancement in children and is of interest to neuroethicists, scholars in applied ethics and neurology, psychiatrists and psychologists as well as scientists developing enhancement interventions for children.
