Standards-based School Mathematics Curricula Sharon L. Senk, Denise R. Thompson, 2020-07-24 The Curriculum and Evaluation Standards for School Mathematics published by the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics in 1989 set forth a broad vision of mathematical content and pedagogy for grades K-12 in the United States These Standards prompted the development of Standards based mathematics curricula What features characterize Standards based curricula How well do such curricula work To answer these questions the editors invited researchers who had investigated the implementation of 12 different Standards based mathematics curricula to describe the effects of these curricula on students learning and achievement and to provide evidence for any claims they made In particular authors were asked to identify content on which

performance of students using Standards based materials differed from that of students using more traditional materials and content on which performance of these two groups of students was virtually identical. Additionally, four scholars not involved with the development of any of the materials were invited to write critical commentaries on the work reported in the other chapters. Section I of Standards Based School Mathematics Curricula provides a historical background to place the current curriculum reform efforts in perspective, a summary of recent recommendations to reform school mathematics, and a discussion of issues that arise when conducting research on student outcomes. Sections II, III, and IV are devoted to research on mathematics curriculum projects for elementary, middle, and high schools respectively. The final section is a commentary by Jeremy Kilpatrick, Regents Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Georgia, on the research reported in this book. It provides a historical perspective on the use of research to guide mathematics curriculum reform in schools and makes additional recommendations for further research. In addition to the references provided at the end of each chapter, other references about the Standards based curriculum projects are provided at the end of the book. This volume is a valuable resource for all participants in discussions about school mathematics curricula, including professors and graduate students interested in mathematics education, curriculum development, program evaluation, or the history of education; educational policy makers; teachers; parents; principals; and other school administrators. The editors hope that the large body of empirical evidence and the thoughtful discussion of educational values found in this book will enable readers to engage in informed civil discourse about the goals and methods of school mathematics curricula and related research.

From Rhetoric to Reality Margaret B. Simey, 2005-01-01. This book is an account of how a disillusioned minister, Frederick D. Aeth, came to Liverpool and ended up making a unique contribution to the social welfare of the city. It is both a personal and a political story of this previously uncelebrated man whose interests and gifts contributed greatly to the transformation of social welfare in the early part of the 20th century. Margaret Simey charts how in 1905 D. Aeth came to this city, becoming the first paid lecturer in the newly formed social science department in Liverpool University, and later in 1909 became the Director of Reports for the newly formed Liverpool Council for Voluntary Aid. This was also one of the first of such coordinating councils emerging from the Report on the Royal Commission on Poor Laws, with D. Aeth responding to this challenge with vigour and a wealth of ideas. Although it is part biography, the book is also an important journey into past and present debates over social welfare. D. Aeth represents a particularly interesting figure as his work clearly bridged the period of transition between Victorian philanthropism and the growing influence of the welfare state. The author reveals the talent D. Aeth developed in the as yet undefined field of Social Administration and his particular verve for co-ordination. Such a focus was crucial with a tide of diverse and fairly uncoordinated charitable organisations. Margaret Simey concludes that D. Aeth largely succeeded in harnessing these diverse groups in Liverpool and from further afield, and in doing so demonstrated the structural value of truly independent voluntary sector effort within society and the potential of the active citizenship as an essential balance to
