Abstract—This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 1,000-hour teacher preparation program on the self-efficacy of preservice teachers. The program was designed to provide preservice teachers with a variety of experiences that would help them develop a strong sense of self-efficacy. The results of the study indicated that the program had a positive effect on the self-efficacy of preservice teachers, with the greatest gains in the areas of teaching and classroom management. The findings suggest that the program was effective in helping preservice teachers develop a strong sense of self-efficacy, which is a key factor in their success as teachers.
