Cutting a Figure Richard J. Powell, 2008 Examining portraits of black people over the past two centuries Cutting a Figure argues that these images should be viewed as a distinct category of portraiture that differs significantly from depictions of people with other racial and ethnic backgrounds The difference Richard Powell contends lies in the social capital that stems directly from the black subject's power to subvert dominant racist representations by evincing such traits as self composure self adornment and self imagining Powell forcefully supports this argument with evidence drawn from a survey of nineteenth century portraits in depth case studies of the postwar fashion model Donyale Luna and the contemporary portraitist Barkley L Hendricks and insightful analyses of images created since the late 1970s Along the way he discusses major artists such as Fr d ric Bazille John Singer Sargent James Van Der Zee and David Hammons alongside such overlooked producers of black visual culture as the Tonka and Nike corporations Combining previously unpublished images with scrupulous archival research Cutting a Figure illuminates the ideological nature of the genre and the centrality of race and cultural identity in understanding modern and contemporary portraiture Raising the World Sara Fieldston,2015-03-09 Sara Fieldston shows how humanitarian child welfare agencies sponsored by Americans filtered political power through the prism of familial love after World War II These well meaning institutions shaped perceptions of the United States as the benevolent parent in a family of nations and helped to expand American hegemony around the globe

A View of the English Editions, Translations and Illustrations of the Ancient Greek and Latin Authors: With Remarks Lewis William Brüggemann,2023-11-29 Psychology in Africa (Psychology Revivals) Mallory Wober,2014-06-17 It is now well over a hundred and fifty years since the first celebrated geographical explorations of Africa took place However it was many years before there began quests of a different kind the investigation of behaviour personality attitude and ability among Africa s people Originally published in 1975 this book is an account of that work the first explorations in Africa of psychology In an exhaustive and well documented report the author a psychologist who had himself done research in Nigeria Uganda and who had lectured at Makerere University drew together the main threads of the research carried out so far putting the issues in an African perspective but anchoring them firmly within the framework of modern psychological thinking and technique of the time Are there any common personality and intellectual characteristics among Africans How does weaning affect African child development How have Africans feelings developed about city life and industrial work The questions the author considers range from the broad based to the specific The challenges which lay ahead for African investigators then moving into the mainstream of the work are also discussed But perhaps above all the book made a convincing case for psychology becoming a relevant and finely honed discipline in Black Africa characterised by practical application to Black African society Each chapter covers a defined area of modern psychology of the time and presents a comprehensive survey in a language no more technical than the subject warrants At the time it was felt this book would be invaluable to students of Africa secondary education whose course included a psychology component and to African students beginning a degree course in psychology It would also have provided an informative supplement to courses in medicine development studies political science sociology and anthropology Who's who in America ,2003 Sheikh's Castaway Alexandra Sellers,2010-10-01 After learning she d beenbetrayed by her fianc Princess Noor skipped outon her own wedding andwound up stranded on aremote island with noneother than the man she was trying to avoid But herintended was nothing if not determined and Noorsoon discovered that try as she might ignoring herfeelings for sexy Sheikh Bari al Khalid was somethingeven a royal couldn t do As their time on the island stretched from hoursinto days Noor could no longer resist her passionfor Bari regardless of the consequences it wouldhave on their future
