Prostitution, Harm and Gender Inequality Maddy Coy,2016-04-08 Prostitution Harm and Gender Inequality brings together international research exploring the range of gendered harms to women involved in prostitution and the consequences of growth of the sex industry for global gender relations While there is an increasing amount of research and academic output on prostitution the current focus is often on discussion and critique of policy frameworks and contemporary debates over harm are largely limited to sex trafficking and sexual exploitation of children Less attention is paid to questions of how the sex industry perpetuates notions of objectification and male entitlement with respect to sexual access to women s bodies despite being key feminist concerns for several decades This position has become effectively marginalized but the global growth and industrialization of the sex industry requires a return to these questions Through exploring gendered inequality and re engaging with an understanding of prostitution as harmful with impacts on the self and body that are experienced as abusive but do not always constitute violence this book introduces a range of research and thinking while also drawing on existing literature to explore the consequences of prostitution for women in the sex industry and wider gender relations These issues are discussed with regard to coercion and recruitment including trafficking notions of male entitlement in accounts of men who buy sex critical interrogations of agency and choice legal and policy frameworks and representations of prostitution in popular culture

Excerpt: Inequality and Fiscal Policy Mr.Benedict J. Clements,Ruud A. de Mooij,Mr.Sanjeev Gupta,Mr.Michael Keen,2015-09-09 This paper is an excerpt from Inequality and

Fiscal Policy The sizeable increase in income inequality experienced in advanced economies and many parts of the world since the 1990s and the severe consequences of the global economic and financial crisis have brought issues on equity and distribution to the top of the policy agenda The book delves into this discussion by analyzing fiscal policy and its link with inequality Fiscal policy is the government's most powerful tool for addressing inequality It affects household consumption directly and indirectly An important message of the book is that growth and equity are not necessarily at odds with the appropriate mix of policy instruments and careful policy design countries can in many cases achieve better distributional outcomes and improve economic efficiency Country case studies demonstrate the diversity of challenges and the diverging ways to use fiscal policy for redistribution The analysis presented in the book builds on work by IMF economists and leading academics

Disequilibrium and Self-Organisation C.W. Kilmister, 2013-03-07 Approach your problems from the right end It isn't that they can't see the solution It is and begin with the answers Then one day that they can't see the problem perhaps you will find the final question G K Chesterton The Scandal of Father The Hermit Clad in Crane Feathers in R Brown The point of a Pin van Gulik's The Chinese Maze Murders Growing specialization and diversification have brought a host of monographs and textbooks on increasingly specialized topics However the tree of knowledge of mathematics and related fields does not grow only by putting forth new branches It also happens quite often in fact that branches which were thought to be completely disparate are suddenly seen to be related Further the kind and level of sophistication of mathematics applied in various sciences has changed drastically in recent years measure theory is used non trivially in regional and theoretical economics algebraic geometry interacts with physics the Minkowski lemma coding theory and the structure of water meet one another in packing and covering theory quantum fields crystal defects and mathematical programming profit from homotopy theory Lie algebras are relevant to filtering and prediction and electrical engineering can use Stein spaces And in addition to this there are such new emerging subdisciplines as experimental mathematics CFD completely integrable systems chaos synergetics and large scale order which are almost impossible to fit into the existing classification schemes They draw upon widely different sections of mathematics

Inequality and Fiscal Policy Mr. Benedict J. Clements, Ruud A. de Mooij, Mr. Sanjeev Gupta, Mr. Michael Keen, 2015-09-21 The sizeable increase in income inequality experienced in advanced economies and many parts of the world since the 1990s and the severe consequences of the global economic and financial crisis have brought distributional issues to the top of the policy agenda The challenge for many governments is to address concerns over rising inequality while simultaneously promoting economic efficiency and more robust economic growth The book delves into this discussion by analyzing fiscal policy and its link with inequality Fiscal policy is the government's most powerful tool for addressing inequality It affects households consumption directly through taxes and transfers and indirectly via incentives for work and production and the provision of public goods and individual services such as education and health An important message of the book is that growth and equity are not necessarily at odds with the appropriate mix of policy instruments and careful policy design countries can in many cases achieve better distributional outcomes and improve economic efficiency Country studies on the Netherlands China India Republic of Congo and Brazil demonstrate the diversity of challenges across countries and their differing capacity to use fiscal policy for redistribution The analysis presented in the book builds on and extends work done at the IMF and also includes contributions from leading academics Human Capital and Gender Inequality in Middle-Income Countries Elizabeth M. King,Dileni Gunewardena,2022-11-25 The role of cognitive and socioemotional skills alongside education in determining people s success in the labour market has been the topic of a growing body of research but previous studies have mostly missed middle income countries and the developing world because measures of those skills and data on employment and earnings on large enough samples of adults have typically not been available Using comparable survey data on these schooling skills and labour market outcomes from 13 developing and emerging economies worldwide this book revisits human capital and gender inequality models It presents new estimates of the returns to different levels of schooling as well as cognitive and socioemotional skills for women and men It examines whether those returns are due to levels of human capital or to structural bias in labour markets and how these two factors work across the earnings spectrum The book examines the existence of glass ceilings and sticky floors for women using this expanded measure of human capital Further by analyzing a group of countries of wide ranging levels of economic development and socio political contexts the book reveals patterns and insights into how context mediates the relationship between skills and gender gaps in labour market outcomes This book will be of interest to scholars of human capital and gender inequality in the labour market and development economics as well as gender and development policy makers

What About Us? Global Perspectives on Redressing Religious Inequalities Mariz Tadros,Olumide Adebimpe Aderounmu,Asif Aqeel,Manal Ahmed (Elehemier),Miriam Feldmann Kaye,Mary Gill,Mark Kaahwa,Philip Mader,Matome Jacky Makgoba,Moses Muhumuza,Rebecca Supriya Shah,Timothy Samuel Shah,Katharine Thane,Rifqah Tifloen,Tom Vanwing,2022-10-26 How can we make religious equality a reality for those on the margins of society and politics This book is about the individual and collective struggles of the religiously marginalised to be recognised and their inequalities religious or otherwise redressed It is also about the efforts of civil society governments multilateral actors and scholars to promote freedom of religion or belief whatever shape they take The actors and contexts that feature in this book are as diverse as health workers in Israel local education authorities in Nigeria indigenous movements in India Uganda or South Africa and multilateral actors such as the Islamic Development Bank in Sudan and the World Bank in Pakistan Some of the case studies engage with development discourses and narratives or are undertaken by development actors while other cases operate completely outside the international development paradigm These case studies present some important insights which while highly relevant for their contexts also draw out important insights for academics practitioners activists and others who have an interest in redressing religious inequalities for socioeconomically marginalised populations Tourism and Inequality Stroma Cole, Nigel Morgan, 2010 Tourism has long been considered a source of social inequality and as the industry continues to expand rapidly there is an increasing need for a better understanding of its consequences Providing a synthesis of tourism as a source of injustice Tourism and Inequality addresses a wide range of interrelated forms of inequality investigating its association with class nation ethnicity race gender disability and age Chapters examine routes towards social justice and initiatives that aim to advance poverty alleviation fair trade ethics and human rights The analysis of a wide variety of case studies from around the world allows an exploration into the ways that tourism can be used positively to alleviate the impacts of social injustice Providing a unique multidisciplinary perspective the authors aim to lead the way towards a more socially responsible future for tourism practice This book provides a useful resource for students of tourism and tourism management as well as industry professionals and policy makers The Palgrave Handbook of Race and Ethnic Inequalities in Education P. practices education and inequality and school reform and improvement This edition features substantive updates including additions to the discussion of neo liberal educational policy recent debates about teacher diversity updated data and research and new selections of historical and contemporary readings At a time when foundations of education are marginalized in many teacher education programs and teacher education reform pushes scripted approaches to curriculum and instruction Exploring Education helps teachers to think critically about the what and why behind the most pressing issues in contemporary education

Understanding Inequalities Lucinda Platt, 2017-04-21 Bringing together the latest empirical evidence with a discussion of sociological debates surrounding inequality this book explores a broad range of inequalities in people's lives As well as treating the core sociological topics of class ethnicity and gender it examines how inequalities are experienced across a variety of settings including education health geography and housing income and wealth and how they cumulate across the life course Richly illustrated with graphs and figures showing the extent of inequalities and the differences between social groups the book demonstrates how people's lives are structured by inequalities across multiple dimensions of their lives Throughout the text pays attention to how we know what we know about inequality what is measured and how what is left out of the picture and what implications this has for our understanding of specific inequalities Importantly the book also highlights the intersections between different sources or forms of inequality and the ways that bringing an intersectional lens to bear on topics can highlight and challenge the assumptions about how they operate Designed for second year undergraduates and above this book provides an engaging overview of social stratification and challenges readers to think about how inequalities are embedded across society

The Reproduction and Maintenance of Inequalities in Interpersonal Relationships Flockhart, Tyler Ross, Reiter, Abigail, Hassett, Matthew R., 2022-05-27 Contemporary racism sexism and heterosexism increasingly rely on less overt forms of discrimination that preserve protect and mask the power of the dominant group This creates all manner of issues for people of color women and LGBTQ folks who must navigate a culture that increasingly sees discrimination and inequality as less severe or less pervasive than it was in the past Indeed despite the multitude of legal social and political advances made by these groups inequality continues to persist but often in a more subtle covert and invisible manner The Reproduction and Maintenance of Inequalities in Interpersonal Relationships discusses the subtle ways racism sexism homophobia and heterosexism persist in an era where many believe such inequalities are in the past and provides a comprehensive understanding of what inequality looks like in the contemporary world Furthermore the book examines how this inequality is reproduced in our everyday relationships Covering topics such as discrimination and workplace relationships this reference work is ideal for sociologists psychologists human resource professionals academicians scholars researchers practitioners instructors and students

Levelling Up the UK Economy Luke Telford, Jonathan Wistow, 2022-11-29 This book contributes to emerging debates about Levelling Up the UK Economy considering these alongside the nature of and trends in both the political economy and spatial disparities

Drawing on a complex systems framing the book pulls together a range of evidence to provide insights about the agenda from macro meso and micro levels of analyses including utilising qualitative data from a small scoping study with Directors of Regeneration across several left behind places and 25 residents of left behind Redcar Cleveland in Teesside The book outlines phases in capitalism s development particularly the shift from post war capitalism to a post industrial and neoliberal society and the implications for spatial inequalities The 2022 Levelling Up White Paper is analysed alongside a focus on the role of local government relative to the agenda The book offers an empirical case study of left behind Redcar Cleveland exposing deindustrialisation insecure employment crime anti social behaviour and sentiments on a North South divide and Levelling Up We suggest that only a transformative change in the political economy including significant and sustained investment at different spatial levels is likely to achieve the ambition to Level Up
