Constructing Capacities Patrick Alan Danaher, 2013-02-14 Constructing Capacities Building Capabilities through Learning and Engagement explores several contemporary manifestations of individuals groups and communities participating in varying types of learning and thereby engaging effectively and productively with their contexts and environments in order to build and develop their multiple capacities. These capacities are seen as crucial to overcoming particular kinds of challenges and to attaining specific types of aspirations that are valued highly by the respective individuals, groups and communities. Despite this common valuing of constructing capacities, we still know relatively little about how capacities can be built and enhanced in ways that are equitable, sustainable and transformative. Much of the literature highlights contextually specific factors that facilitate capacity building for particular groups of participants at specific times and that are founded on demonstrated principles such as understanding and engaging with those participants' respective aspirations, circumstances and needs. Yet what works to develop capabilities in one context might not succeed in another context even with the same participants. Generating momentum and achieving scale and sustainability are often challenges when seeking to build capacities. For all these reasons, it is both timely and useful to extend contemporary understandings of capacities and how they can be constructed effectively and sustainably. The 14 chapters in this book take up this challenge by presenting theoretically framed and rigorously researched accounts of successful capacity building in diverse educational settings, clustered around four foci: conceptualising and contextualising capacities; constructing students and teachers' capacities; constructing workers' capacities; constructing researchers' capacities. These accounts generate new and important understandings of what capacities are, how they can be constructed and supported, and how they enhance positive outcomes for individuals and communities as well as nationally and globally.

Interpersonal Interactions and Language Learning Shin Yi Chew, Lee Luan Ng, 2021-03-12. This book takes as its starting point the assumption that interpersonal communication is a crucial aspect of successful language learning. Following an examination of different communicative models, the authors focus on traditional face-to-face F2F interactions before going on to compare these with the forms of computer-mediated communication (CMC) enabled by recent developments in educational technology. They also address the question of individual differences, particularly learners' preferred participation styles, and explore how F2F and CMC formats might impact learners differently. This book will be of interest to students and scholars of computer-mediated communication (CMC), computer-assisted language learning (CALL), technology-enhanced language learning (TELL), language acquisition and language education more broadly.

This book covers everything a CMHC needs to hit the ground running in clinical practice Bradley T Erford Loyola University Maryland Past President of the American Counseling Association Edge Laura Huang,2020-01-28 Laura Huang an award winning Harvard Business School professor shows that success is about gaining an edge that elusive quality that gives you an upper hand and attracts attention and support Some people seem to naturally have it Now Huang teaches the rest of us how to create our own from the challenges and biases we think hold us back and turning them to work in our favor How do you find a competitive edge when the obstacles feel insurmountable How do you get people to take you seriously when they are predisposed not to and perhaps have already written you off Laura Huang has come up against that problem many times and so has anyone who's ever felt out of place or underestimated Many of us sit back quietly hoping that our hard work and effort will speak for itself Or we try to force ourselves into the mold of who we think is successful stifling the creativity and charm that makes us unique and memorable In Edge Huang offers a different approach She argues that success is rarely just about the quality of our ideas credentials and skills or our effort Instead achieving success hinges on how well we shape others' perceptions of our strengths certainly but also our flaws It's about creating our own edge by confronting the factors that seem like shortcomings and turning them into assets that make others take notice Huang draws from her groundbreaking research on entrepreneurial intuition persuasion and implicit decision making to impart her profound findings and share stories of previously overlooked Olympians assistants turned executives and failing companies that made momentous turnarounds Through her deeply researched framework Huang shows how we can turn weaknesses into strengths and create an edge in any situation She explains how an entrepreneur scored a massive investment despite initially being disparaged for his foreign accent and how a first time political candidate overcame voters' doubts about his physical disabilities Edge shows that success is about knowing who you are and using that knowledge unapologetically and strategically This book will teach you how to find your unique edge and keep it sharp The 19th International Conference on Industrial Engineering and Engineering Management Ershi Qi,Jiang Shen,Runliang Dou,2013-06-25
