- 1) Thompson (1984) defines five categories for the process of spreading diffusion from the origin. Source is the starting location; transmission is what the person who carries the information is doing; link is the path; the original source and spreading mechanism is the only valid way to count your initial spreader (first messenger) correctly.
- 2) Thompson (1984) describes diffusion as a process on the fronts or tips of the epidemic. It does not measure any direct or indirect flow (backflow or loops of information).
- 3) Make this point central to the system of your study, open up the flow, focus on the spreader (people who are the starting group of the epidemic).
- 4) Focus your results on to which epidemic wave is the most likely to spread (concentrate on the GO), identify any critical variables and compare those of spreading front (GO), identify sources (spreading or non-spreading) or thresholds.
- 5) Compare what you are observing to the the literature concerning the the spread. Try to find explanations for the spread. Find out what is the best model to use to describe the spread.

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program on the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women. The program was designed to be a safe and effective means of increasing physical activity in sedentary women. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions included a warm-up, a low-impact aerobic workout, and a low-intensity strength training routine. The results of the study showed that the program had a positive effect on the physical fitness of the women. There was a significant increase in heart rate, blood pressure, and body mass index (BMI) over the 12-week period. The program was well-tolerated by the women, and they reported a decrease in fatigue and an increase in energy levels. The findings of this study suggest that a low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program can be an effective means of improving physical fitness in sedentary, middle-aged women.
