Public Works as a Safety Net Kalanidhi Subbarao, Carlo del Ninno, Colin Andrews, Claudia Rodríguez-Alas, 2012-12-11 A review of the conceptual underpinnings and operational elements of public works programs around the world drawing from a rich evidence base and analyzing previously unassimilated data to fill a gap in knowledge related to public works programs now so popular

Payment modality preferences: Evidence from Ethiopia's Productive Safety Net Programme Hirvonen, Kalle, Hoddinott, John F., 2018-10-23 Economists typically default to the assumption that cash is always preferable to an in kind transfer We extend the classic Southworth 1945 framework to predict under what conditions this assumption holds We take the model to longitudinal household data from Ethiopia where a large scale social safety net intervention the Productive Safety Net Programme PSNP operates Even though most PSNP payments are paid in cash and even though the temporal transaction costs associated with food payments are higher than payments received as cash the overwhelming majority of the beneficiary households prefer their payments only or partly in food However these preferences are neither homogeneous nor stable Higher food prices induce shifts in preferences towards in kind transfers but more food secure households and those closer to food markets and to financial services prefer cash There is suggestive evidence that preferences for food are also driven by self control concerns

The impact of Ethiopia's Productive Safety Net Programme on the nutritional status of children: 2008-2012 Berhane, Guush, Hoddinott, John F., Kumar, Neha, 2017-02-03 Ethiopia's Productive Safety Net Programme PSNP is a large scale social protection intervention aimed at improving food security and stabilizing asset levels The PSNP contains a mix of public works employment and unconditional transfers It is a well targeted program however several years passed before payment levels reached the intended amounts The PSNP has been successful in improving household food security However children s nutritional status in the localities where the PSNP operates is poor with 48 percent of children stunted in 2012 This leads to the question of whether the PSNP could improve child nutrition In this paper we examine the impact of the PSNP on children s nutritional status over the period 2008 2012 Doing so requires paying particular attention to the targeting of the PSNP and how payment levels have evolved over time Using inverse probability weighted regression adjustment estimators we find no evidence that the PSNP reduces either chronic undernutrition height for age z scores stunting or acute undernutrition weight for height z scores wasting While we cannot definitively identify the reason for this nonresult we note that child diet quality is poor We find no evidence that the PSNP improves child consumption of pulses oils fruits vegetables dairy products or animal source proteins Most mothers have not had contact with health extension workers nor have they received information on good feeding practices Water practices as captured by the likelihood that mothers boil drinking water are poor These findings along with work by other researchers have informed revisions to the PSNP Future research will assess whether these revisions have led to improvements in the diets and anthropometric status of preschool children in Ethiopia

Food Security, Safety Nets and Social Protection in Ethiopia Dessalegn Rahmato, Alula Pankhurst, Jan-Gerrit van Uffelen, 2013 This book which examines Ethiopia s food security strategy and the safety net program from different approaches and perspectives in the context of the development of a social protection policy is a continuation of that tradition Ethiopia s safety net program is one of the largest and most influential social protection schemes in Africa and as noted by several authors in this volume provides important lessons beyond the Ethiopian context Back cover
