Abstract—The authors examined the relationship between the use of a computerized decision support system (DSS) and the use of a decision tree (DT) in a diagnostic task. The results showed that the use of a DSS significantly improved the accuracy of the diagnosis compared to the use of a DT. The authors also found that the use of a DSS significantly reduced the time taken to make a diagnosis compared to the use of a DT. The authors concluded that the use of a DSS is a more effective and efficient method for making a diagnosis than the use of a DT.
