Groth, 2012-08-10 Teaching Mathematics in Grades 6 12 by Randall E Groth explores how research in mathematics education can inform teaching practice in grades 6 12 The author shows preservice mathematics teachers the value of being a researcher constantly experimenting with methods for developing students mathematical thinking and connecting this research to practices that enhance students understanding of the material Ultimately preservice teachers will gain a deeper understanding of the types of mathematical knowledge students bring to school and how students thinking may develop in response to different teaching strategies The Ethics of Intensification Paul B. Thompson, 2008-09-19 The Ethics of Agricultural Intensification An Interdisciplinary and International Conversation Paul B Thompson and John Otieno Ouko Global agriculture faces a number of challenges as the world approaches the second decade of the third millennium Predictions unilaterally indicate dramatic increases in world population between 2010 and 2030 and a trend in developing countries toward greater consumption of animal products could multiply the need for production of basic grains even further Although global food production in 2000 was estimated to be adequate for the existing population hunger and malnutrition are persistent problems that have led decision makers to recognize that increasing food production in specific regions may be the most effective way to address food security for impoverished peoples At the same time there will need to be policy adjustments that improve poor people's access to current food supplies without simultaneously undercutting the ability of local producers to obtain needed cash income What is more the uncertain effects of global climate change on agricultural ecosystems complicate planning for this process while poorly understood processes of globalization create additional unknowns from the side of social systems In short despite surpluses in many parts of the developed world finding ways to increase food production on both selected regional and a total global basis remains a priority for many farmers policy makers and agricultural researchers

LaPoe, Benjamin Rex LaPoe, 2017-01-01 Storytelling has always been an important part of Native culture Stories play a part in everyday Native life they are often oral and rich in detail and language and serve as a form of recording history Digital media now allow for the extension of this storytelling This necessary text evaluates how digital media are changing the rich cultural act of storytelling within Native communities with a specific focus on Native newsroom norms and routines The authors argue that the non Native press often leave consumers with a stereotypical view of American Indians and aim to give a more authentic representation to Native journalism With interviews from more than forty Native journalists around the country this book is essential to understanding how digital media possibly advances the distribution of storytelling within the American Indian community Design for Change in Higher Education Jeffrey T. Grabill, Sarah Gretter, Erik Skogsberg, 2022-03-01 It s time to design the next iteration of higher education There is no question that higher education faces significant challenges Most of today s universities aren t prepared to tackle issues like demographic change the continued defunding of public education cost pressures and the opportunities and challenges of educational technologies Then of course there is the shock of the COVID 19 pandemic which will reverberate for years and may very well usher higher education into an era of significant structural change Some critics argue that a premium should be placed on change functions that is to say on creativity innovation organizational learning and change management Yet few institutions of higher education have functions focused on thoughtful iterative problem solving and opportunity identification The authors of Design for Change in Higher Education argue that we must imagine and actively make our way to new institutional forms They assert that design a practical art that is conceptually rich and visible in its concreteness must become a core internal competency of the university They propose one grounded in the practical experiences of a specific educational design organization Michigan State University's Hub for Innovation in Learning and Technology which all three authors have helped to run The Hub was created to address issues of participation impact and scale in moving learning innovations from the individual to the collective and from the classroom to the institution Framing each chapter around a case study of design practice in higher education the book uses that case study as the foundation on which to build design theory for higher education It is complemented by an online playbook featuring tactics that can be used and adapted by others interested in facilitating their own design work Touching on learning experience design LXD as an increasingly critical practice the authors also develop a constructivist view of designing conversations A playbook that grounds theory in practice Design for Change in Higher Education is aimed at faculty staff and students engaged in the important work of imagining new forms of education
