Multiple Worlds of Child Writers Anne Haas Dyson, 1989 Based on a two year study of first graders at a magnet school in the San Francisco Bay Area Multiple Worlds of Child Writers Friends Learning to Write provides an important missing link in the study of emergent literacy the peer group and the classroom contexts that surround it Using four richly detailed case studies the author portrays the process through which Margaret the teacher and her children form a community one supported by and supporting of the children's growth as writers Dyson offers new perspectives by displaying the quality of life in the classroom through children's talk drawings and writing The theoretical framework presented here for understanding children's growth moves what is usually considered background to the foreground for study Most works on children's writing stress that children must disembed or decontextualize their written texts from dependency on other symbolic media and other people Dyson however shows that to develop as writers children's text must become progressively more embedded in the social affective and intellectual parts of their lives The book also emphasizes the nature of the classroom rather than the home as a distinctive context for early literacy growth Moreover the classroom is an urban one that includes children from diverse social and ethnic backgrounds The classroom and children whose lives fill this book challenge current thinking about such critical issues as the developmental links between writing and other symbol systems sequence and variability in early writing growth the relationship between form and function in young children's writing and the development of literary language This book is a must for early childhood educators reading and language arts specialists and scholars researchers in the field of literacy

Modes of Composition and the Durability of Style in Literature David Hoover, 2020-11-29 Modes of Composition and the Durability of Style employs the tools and methods of computational stylistics to show that style is extremely resistant to changes in how texts are produced Addressing an array of canonical writers including William Faulkner Joseph Conrad Thomas Hardy and Henry James along with popular contemporary writers like Stephen King and Ian McEwan this volume presents a systematic study of changes in mode of composition and writing technologies Computational analysis of texts produced in multiple circumstances of composition such as dictation handwriting typewriting word processing and translation reveals the extraordinary durability of authorial style Modes of Composition and the Durability of Style in Literature will be essential for readers interested in exploring the rapidly expanding field of digital approaches to literature

Translation Multiples Kasia Szymanska, 2025-05-27 A new genre of writing demonstrating that translation is neither a transparent medium nor a secondary form of literature In Translation

Multiples Kasia Szymanska examines what happens when translators poets and artists expose the act of translation by placing parallel translation variants next to one another in a standalone work of art presenting each as a legitimate version of the original Analyzing such translation multiples as a new genre of writing Szymanska explores how an original text can diverge into variants how such multiplicity can be displayed and embraced and how the resulting work can still be read as a coherent text To do so she focuses on contemporary projects in two different contexts Anglophone experimental practices and post 1989 Poland s emergence into democracy while viewing them against the backdrop of twentieth century cultural and political developments Szymanska first takes a broad look at Anglophone global culture debunking the myth of translation as a transparent medium and an unoriginal secondary form of writing She then turns to postcommunist Poland where projects introducing multiple translation variants with different ideological readings offered an essential platform for pluralist political discussion She examines in particular an elaborate metatranslation of La Marseillaise a triple rendering of Anthony Burgess s novel A Clockwork Orange and a quadruple book of Bertolt Brecht s poetry with distinct readings by four translators She argues that the creators of such multiples want to tell their own stories personal critical visual or political Showing why multiple translations matter Szymanska calls for a redefined practice of reading translations that follows the ethics of the multiple

'To Banish Ghost and Goblin' David Clark, Rubén Jarazo Álvarez, 2010-07-16 This book presents a series of essays on some of the most challenging issues which are facing Irish Studies scholars in the twenty first century It aims to provide a variety of views on topics such as gender media the North and the revision of traditional approaches to Irish studies as seen by a number of scholars at the end of the first decade of the third millennium The breadth of scope is justified by the dynamic growth of the field over the last decade and points to the diverse academic and national backgrounds of the authors of the chapters and the enthusiasm with which the cultural concerns of the island of Ireland are tackled in other countries Writers from Austria Brazil Canada Germany and Spain provide original viewpoints on Irish topics which are as bold as they are refreshing The awareness of the unique situation of Ireland and her cultural practices has provided a scenario in which interest in the literature art film and other cultural manifestations is great and it is hoped that this volume will play a part in stimulating debate about some of the fascinating areas of Irish cultural matters discussed herein and will provide a useful work of reference for anyone interested in the rich and ample field of Irish Studies

Learning and Using Multiple Languages Laura Portolés Falomir, Maria Pilar Safont Jordà, 2015-02-05 This volume brings together the latest findings from research on multilingual language learning and use in multilingual communities Suzanne Flynn H kan Ringbom and Larissa Aronin are some of the prestigious scholars who have contributed to this book As argued by this last author in her chapter although multilingualism has always existed the important changes that research on this phenomenon has recently undergone like that of adopting a multilingual perspective in its studies should always be borne in mind This volume considers the languages of multilingual communities as well as the interaction among them As such the chapters adopt a multilingual approach that guides the analysis of grammatical lexical and pragmatic development together with the role of affective and social factors in multilingual settings Furthermore this edited monograph is not restricted to an age group in the scope of its studies as it contains research on children teenagers young adults and adults In addition it covers a wide range of sociolinguistic settings including English speaking countries like the United Kingdom and Canada and Northern and Central European contexts such as Sweden and Germany as well as Southern settings like Spain and Tunisia This book will be relevant to both researchers and teachers due to its educational and sociolinguistic orientation dealing as it does with language learners from various multilingual communities and describing the social representation of languages and the measures for their promotion

The Language of War Monuments David Machin, Gill Abousnnouga, 2013-10-10 This book analyses war monuments by developing a multimodal social semiotic approach to understand how they communicate as three dimensional objects The book provides a practical tool kit approach to how critical multimodal social semiotics should be done through visual textual and material analysis It ties this material analysis into the social and political contexts of production Using examples across the 20th and 21st century the book s chapters offer a way of analysing the way that monument designers have used specific semiotic choices in terms of things like iconography objects shape form angularity height materials and surface realisation to place representations of war in public places across Britain This social semiotic approach to the study of war monuments serves three innovative purposes First it provides a contribution to the work on the ideological representations of war in Media and Cultural Studies and in Critical Discourse Analysis applied specifically to more banal realisations of discourse Second it responds to calls by historians for innovative ways to study war commemoration by providing an approach that offers both specific analysis of the objects and attends to matters of design Thirdly following in the relatively recent tradition of multimodal analysis the arguments draw on the ideas of Kress and van Leeuwen 1996 2001 adapting and extending their theories and models to the analysis of British commemorative war monuments in order to develop a multimodal framework for the analysis of three dimensional objects

Multiple Perspectives in Linguistic Research on Baltic Languages Ineta Dabašinskienė, Nicole Nau, Aurelia Usoniene, 2012-01-17 The ten

contributions to this volume present original research on grammar and discourse in modern Lithuanian and Latvian. They reflect the diversity of approaches in linguistic research on Baltic languages that has developed in recent years after a period where these languages were studied almost exclusively from the perspective of historical comparative linguistics. Current research perspectives include among others perspectives from discourse analysis, sociolinguistics, language acquisition, research corpus linguistics, contrastive studies and linguistic typology. The studies in this volume explore new ways of describing the system and use of Latvian or Lithuanian from a synchronic non normative point of view. They focus on grammatical categories and constructions, modality, evidentiality, case, existential clauses, grammatical characteristics of lexical classes, reflexive verbs, numerals, the characteristics of certain forms of discourse, academic discourse, food discourse and the effects of an ideology of correct language on language users.

Multiple Translation Communities in Contemporary Japan Beverley Curran, Nana Sato-Rossberg, Kikuko Tanabe, 2015-04-17. Multiple Translation Communities in Contemporary Japan offers a collection of essays that 1 deepens the understanding of the cultural and linguistic diversity of communities in contemporary Japan and how translation operates in this shifting context and circulates globally by looking at some of the ways it is theorized and approached as a significant social, cultural or political practice and harnessed by its multiple agents; 2 draws attention to the multi platform translations of cultural productions such as manga which are both particular to and popular in Japan but also culturally influential and widely circulated transnationally; 3 poses questions about the range of roles translation has in the construction, performance and control of gender roles in Japan; and 4 enriches Translation Studies by offering essays that problematize critical notions related to translation. In short, the essays in this book highlight the diversity and ubiquity of translation in Japan as well as the range of methods being used to understand how it is being theorized, positioned and practiced.
