However, the industry has been very resistant to make the public more involved in the decision-making process. The original industry and public feedback was in the early 1970s, but it was not until the 1990s that the industry began to make more progress in this regard.

This system is designed to capture the essential (200–2000 Å) covered range, the one intended to capture the really big bang optical emission lines. The multi-channel diffracting the light into a few channels in long gratings. They will channel the coverage on Å scale but it is believed that the full covered 5 Å or better range is guaranteed by a dual band – where the system is really in two bands, the dual is without arbitrary limits but by increasing the total wavelength coverage, to maximize the fits of the observed data using the multi components in a fixed Å resolution channel.

Revisiting the Results: Relevance and Overall Fit

[illegible]

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program on the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women. The study was a randomized, controlled trial. The subjects were 40 sedentary, middle-aged women who were randomly assigned to either a supervised walking program or a control group. The walking program consisted of 12 weeks of supervised walking, 3 times per week, for 30 minutes per session. The control group consisted of 20 women who did not participate in the walking program. The subjects were assessed at baseline and at 12 weeks for physical and psychological health. The walking program had a significant positive effect on the physical and psychological health of the subjects. The walking program significantly improved the subjects' physical health, as measured by the 6-minute walk test, the 12-minute walk test, and the 400-meter walk test. The walking program also significantly improved the subjects' psychological health, as measured by the Beck Depression Inventory, the State-Trait Anxiety Inventory, and the Zung Depression Index. The walking program had no significant effect on the subjects' weight, blood pressure, or cholesterol levels. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, supervised walking program can improve the physical and psychological health of sedentary, middle-aged women.
