Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice In the first part of the book four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom In the second part each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms Combining two discourses that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research Empowering Science and Mathematics for Global Competitiveness Yuli Rahmawati, Peter Charles

, 1937 Struggling to Make the Grade: A Review of the Causes and Consequences of the Weak Outcomes of South Africa's Education System Mr. Montfort Mlachila, Tlhalafang Moeletsi, 2019-03-01 While South Africa has made significant improvements in basic and tertiary education enrollment the country still suffers from significant challenges in the quality of educational achievement by almost any international metric The paper finds that money is clearly not the main issue since the South Africa s education budget is comparable to OECD countries as a percent of GDP and exceeds that of most peer sub Saharan African countries in per capita terms The main explanatory factors are complex and multifaceted and are associated with insufficient subject knowledge of some teachers history race language geographic location and socio economic status Low educational achievement contributes to low productivity growth and high levels of poverty unemployment and inequality Drawing on the literature the paper sketches some policy considerations to guide the debate on what works and what does not
