Land, Law and Chiefs in Rural South Africa William Beinart, Rosalie Kingwill, Gavin Capps, 2021-05-01 This edited collection illustrates contestations over land and political authority in South Africa s rural areas focusing on threats to popular rights and how they are being supported Who controls the land and minerals in the former Bantustans of South Africa chiefs the state or landholders Disputes are taking place around the ownership of resources decisions about their exploitation and who should benefit With respect to all of these issues the courts have become increasingly important The contributors to Land Law and Chiefs in Rural South Africa capture some of these intense contestations over land law and political authority focussing on threats to the rights of ordinary people History and customary law feature strongly in most disputes and succession to chieftaincy is also frequently disputed Judges have to make decisions in a context where rival claimants to property or office assert their own versions of history and custom The South African constitution recognizes customary law and the courts are attempting to incorporate and develop this branch of jurisprudence as living customary law Lawyers community leaders and academics are called on to assist in researching cases around restitution land rights and customary law The chapters in this collection discuss legal cases and policy directions that have evolved since 1994 Some chapters analyze the increasing power of chiefs in the South African rural areas while others suggest that the courts are giving support to popular rights over land and supporting local democratic processes

Contributors record significant pushback from groups that reject traditional authority These political tensions are a central theme of the collection and thus serve as vital case studies in furthering our understanding of rights and restitution in South Africa

Rock Art Studies - News of the World Natalie R. Franklin,Matthias Strecker,2008-08-05 This is the third in the five yearly series of surveys of what is happening in rock art studies around the world As always the texts reflect something of the great differences in approach and emphasis that exist in different regions The volume presents examples from Europe Asia Africa and the New World During the period in question 1999 to 2004 there have been few major events although in the field of Pleistocene art many new discoveries have been made and a new country added to the select list of those with Ice Age cave art Some regions such as North Africa and the former USSR have seen a tremendous amount of activity focusing not only on recording but also on chronology and the conservation of sites With the global increase of tourism the management of rock art sites that are accessible to the public is a theme of ever growing importance
