Green Architecture Review:

Green Buildings Pay Brian Edwards, Emanuele Naboni, 2013-08-22 This third edition of Green Buildings Pay presents new evidence and new arguments concerning the institutional and business case that can be made for green design. The green argument has moved a long way forward since the previous edition and this fully updated book addresses the key issues faced by architect, engineer and client today. Green Buildings Pay: Design Productivity and Ecology examines through a range of detailed case studies how different approaches to green design can produce more sustainable patterns of development. These cases are examined from three main perspectives: that of the architect, the client and the user. Completely revised with all new chapters, cases, sections and introductory material, the third edition presents over 20 new researched case studies drawn from the UK, Europe and the USA, written in collaboration with the architects, engineers, clients and user groups. Examples of office and educational buildings of high sustainable and high architectural quality, an exploration of the architectural innovations that have been driven by environmental thinking, such as the new approaches to the design of building facades, roofs and atria, cases which demonstrate current practice in the area of energy eco retrofits of existing buildings, documentation of the benefit impact assessment schemes such as LEED and BREEAM, have had upon client expectations and on design approaches over the past decade. Beautiful full color illustrations throughout. In the fast evolving arena of green building, the book shows how architects are reshaping their practices to deal with ever more demanding energy standards and better informed users and corporate clients.

Green Building Management and Smart Automation Solanki, Arun, Nayyar, Anand, 2019-07-05 Throughout the world there is an increasing demand on diminishing natural resources in the industrial, transport, commercial and residential sectors. Of these, the residential sector uses the most energy on such needs as lighting, water heating, air conditioning, space heating and refrigeration. This sector alone consumes one third of the total primary energy resources available. By using green building and smart automation techniques, this demand for energy resources can be lowered. Green Building Management and Smart Automation is an essential scholarly publication that provides an in-depth analysis of design technologies for green building and highlights the smart automation technologies that help in energy conservation along with various performance metrics that are necessary to facilitate a building to be known as a Green Smart Building. Featuring a range of topics such as environmental quality, energy management and big data analytics, this book is ideal for researchers, engineers, policymakers, government officials, architects and students.

during the design phase is likely to be the biggest contributor to higher construction costs Empirical analysis case studies on LEED certified buildings and interviews with project teams are used to present a pathway to more affordable green building at the end This will be a crucial resource for students and professionals in architecture engineering construction management and planning and energy policy
