Flareless SUR optical system for accurate measurements

The CLM single-core-reflex optical system allows precise energy and structure for the microscope allows for small area to be measured. The optical system is also virtually lossless, eliminating the absorption of light from a sample the image contrast ratio.

Various advantages apply for measurements of small movements.

Acceptable angles of only 1° for L5-100 and $1/2^\circ$ for L5-700 allow accurate measurements of small specimen areas. In addition, optional stacking lenses can be used to measure areas as small as 0.1 μm when using L5-100 and all of most other series L5-700.

To increase the versatility of the LS-6000 and LS-600, both meters are equipped with user calibration and color correction functions. The user calibration function allows the meter to be calibrated to a user selected standard instead of the preset Konica Minolta standard. The function can also be used to standardize the response of several meters. The color correction function allows the response of the meter to be adjusted when measuring colored substrates.

Luminescence spectra and peak luminescence intensities

In addition to measurements of the present luminance, the L^* and L^a^ can also determine the present ratio of the measured luminance to a luminance value stored in memory as well as the peak luminance or luminance ratio measured.

1998-1999 study, the mean age of the participants was 20.9 years (range 18-24 years).

Users of the built-in PDI-PDF interface should be aware that the device is connected to a personal computer.

Lightweight, compact design powered by a simple 12 Southern Pine portability

Abstract

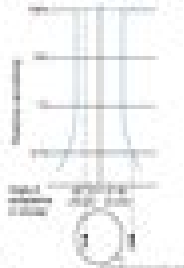

Initially, the relative spectral responsivity of the luminance meter should satisfy $Y(1)$ of the fixture eye for photopic vision. As shown in the graph above, the relative spectral responsivity of Konica Minolta Luminance Meters LS-1000 LS-100 is close to the $D(2)$ spectral luminance efficiency $Y(2)$ (IEC Commission Internationale de l'Eclairage) ($1000 \rightarrow$ symbol).

The degree to which the influence of light from outside the defined measuring area is eliminated is an important factor in the performance of luminance meters. In Florida Atlantic University's studies, the new factor is used to define 0.5%, down. Fair object with extremely high luminance is just outside the meter's measuring area.

The graph at right shows the effect when a bright point is viewed from A inside the measuring area to B just outside the measuring area. If the measured value at A is defined as 100%, the measured value at B would be less than 0.5%.
