Wiring diagram showing the connection between the 12V 80W battery, the 2007 Honda A55 engine, and the A55 CDI/coil unit. The diagram includes labels for the battery, engine, and CDI/coil unit, along with a note about the ignition timing for the A55 engine.

The ASS has a different magnet and CDI/coil than AFS. There is an external fixed trigger coil (pulser) that tells the CDI (capacitor discharge ignition) when to spark. The older AFS used the source coil as the trigger, and so moving the stator changed the ignition timing. The newer ASS ignition timing is not adjustable.
