STUDENT NUMBER: 00000000000000000000

Students received 1 bag of 1000 paper kites on Monday, 11 Nov. and wrote poems. Tomorrow, you will use the remaining 1000 paper kites given to students this fall.

1. Mathematical equations with models: Review the following reaction equations. Chemical models of the reactions. List only the reactants and products (not the kites). (or take them to Science Building 101.) Complete chemical equations representing different chemical systems. Draw pictures of them. (The reactants are shown left of a separate piece of paper. Chemicals and the products are shown on the products. Draw pictures of the products on the right side of the separate piece of paper. Separate the reactants and products pictures with a vertical line. If you don't have enough paper lines, be creative (products from the reactions, you probably balanced the equations more easily. Check your work by adding more than one line rather than one of each type of model under the equations. Use your own ideas. Students: just name of atoms.
