

IELTS Writing Task 2: Introductions

'Employers should not be concerned about the way their employees dress but the quality of their work'. To what extent do you agree or disagree?

(1) 'In the past, there were strict guidelines about how people should dress for work, but nowadays dress codes seem to have been relaxed. In my opinion, this is a worrying development. Although it goes without saying that employers should prioritise the quality of their staff's performance, I think that strict guidelines are essential and I will outline my reasons below.'

(2) 'It is an obvious assumption that a manager's fundamental consideration relating to his/her staff is how well they carry out the job that they are paid to do, regardless of their appearance or the way they dress. However, there are certain industries in which a strict dress code is absolutely essential, and I will outline the reasons for this below.'

(3) 'Some people believe that the way in which a person dresses for work should be a matter for serious consideration, especially in professions which involve face-to-face interaction with members of the public. However, others claim that what matters most is the quality of an employee's performance at work. I will outline both points of view below and argue in favour of the latter opinion.'
