MARTHA STEWART'S CHRISTMAS. PHOTOS.BY CHRISTOPHER BAKER. Martha Stewart,1989 Let's Go Nuts for National Peanut Butter Day Martha Stephenson,2018-01-05 Each person living in the USA eats around three pounds of peanut butter each year enough in fact to coat the floor of the Grand Canyon This delicious spread has come a long way since the very first PB J sandwich appeared in Julia Davis Chandler's recipe in the Boston Cooking School Magazine. In fact by the time they graduate from high school the average child in the States alone will enjoy over 1500 peanut butter sandwiches. Good news because in general term nuts make excellent brain food. And although peanut butter contains just less than 100 calories per tablespoon it does give you a lot back. It's a good source of vitamin E, B6, calcium, potassium and iron and is protein rich which means it's the perfect addition to break smoothies and shakes. Peanut butter is a lot more versatile than you think too. It tastes great in curries, stews and even salads. What's more it's the perfect glaze for fish, chicken and all kinds of meats. So whether you're looking for a quick and sweet snack or a show stopping after dinner dessert this is the cookbook for you. Sweet or savory drinks or desserts creamy or crunchy it's time to celebrate National Peanut Butter Day on January 24.
