Wadkins, 2014-03-27 This is the only comprehensive text to focus on the development of practical interviewing and counseling skills for master's level mental health counseling students. It is structured around the goals established by the CACREP's 2009 document on standards for MHC programs and uniquely encompasses both theory and practice from the perspectives of a diverse array of theoretical schools and practice strategies. The benefits of integrating complementary therapy approaches according to the needs of the client and the importance of multicultural considerations in interviewing and counseling are consistent themes throughout. The book's hands-on guidance regarding interviewing and counseling skills along with its embrace of different therapeutic modalities will enable students to learn how to provide care to clients that is tailored to their specific needs. Each chapter includes a highlighted section that draws students' attention to topics related to diversity and strategies for working with clients from a variety of populations. Issues related to race, ethnicity, immigration, and country of origin are highlighted along with age, gender, sexual orientation, religion, language, and physical and cognitive abilities. The use of case examples from multiple theoretical orientations offers a realistic view of what actually occurs in a consulting room. The book also addresses working with clients who have serious emotional or psychological difficulties and covers evidenced-based practice, assessment, and diagnosis, and when and how to terminate treatment. An instructor's guide and PowerPoint slides are also included. Key Features: Provides a balanced integrated theoretical and practical approach to interviewing and counseling with a focus on skills development. Understanding Physics David C. Cassidy, Gerald Holton, F. James Rutherford, 2002-09-10 Understanding Physics provides a thorough grounding in contemporary physics while placing physics into its social and historical context. Based in large part on the highly respected Project Physics Course developed by two of the authors, it also integrates the results of recent pedagogical research. The text thus teaches about the basic phenomena in the physical world and the concepts developed to explain them, shows that science is a rational human endeavor with a long and continuing tradition involving many different cultures and people, develops facility in critical thinking, reasoned argumentation, evaluation of evidence, mathematical modeling, and ethical values. The treatment emphasizes not only what we know but also how we know it, why we believe it, and what effects that knowledge has. Why do we believe the Earth and planets revolve around the Sun? Why do we believe that matter is made of atoms? How do relativity theory and quantum mechanics alter our conception of Nature, and in what ways do they leave the classical concepts unchanged?
