Alan Daly, Kara Finnigan

English First Additional Language Paper September 2013 Memo:

Responses to the 'Arabellions' Tanja Börzel, Assem Dandashly, Thomas Risse, 2017-10-02 This book studies the reactions by external actors including the European Union to the events unfolding in the Arab world beginning in December 2010. In particular, contributors look at external actors' attempts to balance their desire for stability with their normative principles toward human rights and democracy. The book compares the action and inaction of the EU with other international and regional players including the United States, Russia, Turkey, and Israel and assesses the response of these actors to the Arabellions events, analysing changes in their approaches to the Arab region. The contributions to this book answer three questions: 1. How have external actors assessed the Arabellions and what role did they see for themselves in this context? 2. Which goals and instruments did external actors pursue toward the MENA region? In particular, how did they deal with conflicting goals such as support for human rights and democracy on the one hand and concerns about security and stability on the other? 3. How can we explain the varying responses of external actors to the Arabellions? This book was published as a special issue of the Journal of European Integration.

The Evolution of Global Internet Governance Roxana Radu, Jean-Marie Chenou, Rolf H. Weber, 2014-03-25 The volume explores the consequences of recent events in global Internet policy and possible ways forward following the 2012 World Conference on International Telecommunications (WCIT 12). It offers expert views on transformations in governance, the future of multistakeholderism, and the salience of cybersecurity. Based on the varied backgrounds of the contributors, the book provides an interdisciplinary perspective drawing on international relations, international law, and communication studies. It addresses not only researchers interested in the evolution of new forms of transnational networked governance but also practitioners who wish to get a scholarly reflection on current regulatory developments. It notably provides firsthand accounts on the role of the WCIT 12 in the future of Internet governance.

Redefining Tandem Language and Culture Learning in Higher Education Claire Tardieu, Céline Horgues, 2019-08-21 This book provides a comprehensive critical account of tandem learning, charting its evolution from its origins in European educational settings to modern programs offering new perspectives on the approach's role within higher education. Taking stock of the ways in which increased globalization has produced new linguistic and sociocultural realities, the volume begins by looking back at the development of tandem learning over the last several decades, growing out of a need to create more opportunities for L2 learners to communicate in their target language. The book then examines the different learning objectives and learning outcomes of tandem learning arrangements, moving toward a discussion of tandem learning's potential role in shaping language policy and the unique challenges involved in implementing tandem programs at higher education institutions. The final section of the book brings the previous discussions together to consider new tools and technology and the ways in which they can better equip language educators to implement tandem learning in their own practice. Highlighting tandem learning's potential to promote multilingual and multicultural learning on a global scale this volume will be of particular interest to students and researchers in intercultural communication language education multilingualism and applied linguistics

The Fall of Heaven Andrew Scott Cooper, 2016-08-02 An immersive gripping account of the rise and fall of Iran's glamorous Pahlavi dynasty written with the cooperation of the late Shah's widow Empress Farah Iranian revolutionaries and US officials from the Carter administration In this remarkably human portrait of one of the twentieth century's most complicated personalities Mohammad Reza Pahlavi Andrew Scott Cooper traces the Shah's life from childhood through his ascension to the throne in 1941 He draws the turbulence of the post war era during which the Shah survived assassination attempts and coup plots to build a modern pro Western state and launch Iran onto the world stage as one of the world's top five powers Readers get the story of the Shah's political career alongside the story of his courtship and marriage to Farah Diba who became a power in her own right the beloved family they created and an exclusive look at life inside the palace during the Iranian Revolution Cooper's investigative account ultimately delivers the fall of the Pahlavi dynasty through the eyes of those who were there leading Iranian revolutionaries President Jimmy Carter and White House officials US Ambassador William Sullivan and his staff in the American embassy in Tehran American families caught up in the drama even Empress Farah herself and the rest of the Iranian Imperial family Intimate and sweeping at once The Fall of Heaven recreates in stunning detail the dramatic and final days of one of the world's most legendary ruling families the unseating of which helped set the stage for the current state of the Middle East

Thinking and Acting Systemically Alan Daly, Kara Finnigan, 2016-05-19 This volume argues that districts are important as a lever for change given the limited success of school by school efforts Policies that focus on skill development recognize and support performance create opportunities for collaboration build leader capacity and create networks of knowledge sharing hold great potential for improving districts but it will require a paradigm shift in the way we view our public school system and those who work within it away from blame and toward complex systems change Rural Voices Christine

Mallinson, Elizabeth Seale, 2018-09-15 In this interdisciplinary volume sociolinguists and sociologists explore the intersections of language culture and identity for rural populations around the world Challenging stereotypical views of rural backwardness and urban progress the contributors reveal how language is a key mechanism for constructing the meaning of places and the people who identify with them With research that spans numerous countries and several continents the chapters in this volume add broadly to knowledge about status and prestige authenticity and belonging rural urban relations and innovation and change among rural peoples and in rural communities across the globe Annual Report India.

Ministry of Finance, 2013 Independent Schools Yearbook 2012-2013 none, 2013-06-20 The highly respected book of reference of sought after Independent Schools in membership of the Independent Schools Council's Associations HMC GSA The Society of Heads IAPS ISA and COBIS Failure Vicki E. Alger, 2016-07-01 A comprehensive account and frank assessment of federal involvement in education is long overdue Education policy expert Vicki E Alger remedies this deficiency with her book Failure The Federal Miseducation of America's Children As its title indicates Failure makes no effort to sugar coat its findings Created in 1979 after a lobbying campaign that spanned generations the Department of Education has failed to live up to its promises Federal involvement whether related to testing funding or academic curricula has failed to abide by the Constitution's implication that education must remain the domain only of state and local governments and private institutions Most of all the central government's pervasive meddling in education has failed America's school children and their parents Education policy has long been mired in controversies often with opposing sides missing the mark Failure helps us step back from the skirmish du jour and redirects our focus to the big picture showing us what's gone wrong over the decades and the institutional causes of these failures It also offers a bold blueprint for returning the federal government to its constitutional role and for cultivating an educational system that meets the needs of students and parents rather than bureaucrats Concerned citizens of every stripe will benefit from Failure's history of federal education policy its brutally honest report card for the Department of Education its look at education systems across the globe and its ambitious policy recommendations Failure might even succeed in reframing the way the federal education establishment thinks about education policy The Color Black Beeta Baghoolizadeh, 2024-02-23 Beeta Baghoolizadeh examines the twin processes of enslavement and erasure of Black people in Iran during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries showing how following the abolition of slavery in 1929 Iranian society collectively forgot and ignored its history of racism and slavery The Discursive Construction of Economic Inequality Eva M. Gomez-Jimenez, Michael Toolan, 2020-06-25 This book analyses diverse public discourses to investigate how wealth inequality has been portrayed in the British media from the time of the Second World War to the present day Using a variety of corpus assisted methods of discourse analysis chapters present an historicized perspective on how the mass media have helped to make sharply increased wealth inequality seem perfectly normal Print radio and online media sources are interrogated using methodologies grounded in critical discourse analysis critical stylistics and corpus linguistics in order to examine the influence of the media on the British electorate who have passively consented to the emergence of an even less egalitarian Britain Covering topics such as Second World War propaganda the Change4Life anti obesity campaign and newspaper parliamentary and TV news programme attitudes to poverty and austerity this book will be of value to all those interested in the mass media's contribution to the entrenched inequality in modern Britain

Women Writing in a Time of War, 1642-1689 Karen Britland, 2025-05-26 Women Writing in a Time of War 1642 1689 explores the stereotype of the apolitical woman who was nevertheless valuable as a messenger or secret agent during the English civil wars not least because her imagined lack of political acumen obscured her partisan behaviour It examines the interconnections between early modern men and women's cultural production analyzing the secret writing and communication strategies employed by agents and spies during the wars and arguing that an attention to clandestine modes of writing provides new insights into women's literary production during the conflict Encouraging us to understand such literary production differently Britland offers a new history of early modern political writing one deeply imbricated in but by no means exclusively focused on the literary work and experiences of women the non elite and the racially marginalized in early modern England and its colonial trade networks An attentiveness to the narrative strategies deployed by women writers during the English civil wars also helps us to think about the long histories subtending our own reading and writing practices Not only does the relative invisibility of female agents in our own historiography reveal a persistent tendency in contemporary criticism to overlook women's contributions to major historical events but the book argues the early modern instrumentalization of women's bodies particularly the bodies of women from non elite backgrounds who acted as couriers within elite communication networks acts as a caution against adopting contemporary methods of reading particularly computer aided reading that can downplay or ignore the contributions of women and non elite people This book makes a case for not separating our discussions of women from those of men nor for privileging analyses of the rich over those of the poor at the same time as it remains deeply embedded in the literary material and merchant cultures of later seventeenth century England Regulating Information Asymmetry in the Residential Real Estate Market Devin Lin, 2017-07-06 This book conducts a detailed examination of the current form of the Hong Kong residential property regulatory system the 2013

Residential Properties Firsthand Sales Ordinance Cap 621 The author sheds light on how the new legislation promotes a number of values including information symmetry consumer protection the free market and business efficacy It provides a detailed account of how the regulatory mechanism has evolved over the past three decades to catch unconscionable sales tactics such as selective information and or misrepresentation of location size completion date and past transactions and monitor sales practices in order to protect the interests of stakeholders in this ever changing first hand residential property market This book breaks down this complicated subject matter by focusing a number of chapters each on a specific attribute of the residential property on sale It then examines the various channels through which the information is communicated to the prospective buyer and discusses misrepresentation of the key information in sales of residential properties as criminal liability The tension between consumer s rights on one hand and the pursuit of free market principles on the other is but one example of the conflicting values thoroughly discussed in the book others include superstition vs modernization and clarity vs flexibility Aimed at those with an interest in consumer protection and transparency orientated legislation in commercialized real estate transactions this book seeks to provide an in depth discussion of the latest trends and directions of travel
