Passage A: A Disappointing Return!

I had been imagining this return trip down the narrow track to Soche Hill for many years. Some trips mean so much to us that we rehearse them obsessively in our head, in delicious anticipation. It was a homecoming more important to me than going back to Medford where I had grown up.

Instead of driving straight to the school I stopped at the nearby town of Limbe, which began abruptly, the edge of the town slummy, with the outdoor businesses – bicycle menders, car repairers, coffin-makers; the rest of it chaotic, litter and mobs, small businesses and bars and dubious-looking clinics. The town was much fuller – larger and meaner-looking. In a fine, chilly and drifting mist, I drove out of Limbe by a familiar route; uphill through a forest that had once been much larger, past a village that had once been much smaller, on a paved road that had once been just a muddy track. My hopes were raised by this narrow but good back road that ascended to the lower slopes of Soche Hill, for I assumed that this improved road indicated that the school too had been improved.

But I was wrong. The school was almost unrecognisable. What had been a set of school buildings in a large grove of trees was a semi-derelect compound of battered buildings in a muddy, open field. The trees had been cut down, the grass was chest high. At first glance the place was so poorly maintained as to seem abandoned: broken windows, doors ajar, mildewed walls, gashes in the roofs, and just a few people standing around, empty-handed, doing nothing but gaping at me.

I walked to the house I had once lived in. The now-battered building had once lain behind hedges and blossoming shrubs, but the shrubbery was gone, replaced by a small scrappy garden of withered maize. Tall elephant grass had almost overwhelmed the garden and now pressed against the house. The building was scorched and patched. Firewood had been thrown in a higgledy-piggledy stack outside the kitchen.

More rain-stained mildewed walls and sagging roofs, more broken windows and cracked verandas up the road, at the other teachers' houses. The drizzle was coming down hard now, but the rain and the mud and the dripping trees and the green slime on the brick walls were appropriate to the melancholy I felt.

I met two teachers standing in the wet road, chatting together. They introduced themselves as Anne Holt and Jackson Yekha – new teachers here.

'Ever heard of the Roseveares?' I asked. 'They actually started the school. They lived over there.'

English Paper 1 November 2013 Memo:

The EU and Member State Building Soeren Keil, Zeynep Arkan, 2014-12-05 This book critically examines the process of statebuilding by the EU focusing on its attempts to build Member States in the Western Balkan region This book analyses the European Union's policies towards and the impact they have upon the states of the Western Balkans and assesses how these affect the nature of EU foreign policy To this end it focuses on the tools and mechanisms that the EU employs in its enlargement policy and examines the new instruments of direct intervention in Bosnia and Kosovo political coercion in the case of Croatia and Serbia in relation to the International Criminal Tribunal for the former Yugoslavia and stricter conditionality in the Western Balkan countries The book discusses the key aim of this special form of statebuilding which is to establish functional liberal democratic states in Albania Bosnia and Herzegovina Croatia Kosovo Macedonia Montenegro and Serbia in order for them to join the EU and to cope with the responsibilities and pressures of membership in the future However the authors argue that while the EU sees itself as an international actor that promotes and protects liberal democratic values norms and principles its experiences in the Western Balkans demonstrate how the EU's actions in the region have undermined the basic principles of democratic decision making such as the European support for impositions in Bosnia and international law Kosovo and have consequently contributed to new tensions see police reform in Bosnia and the tensions between Kosovo and Serbia and dependencies This book will be of much interest to students of statebuilding EU politics global governance and IR Security Studies in general

Reappraising the Seicento Andrew Cheetham, Joseph Knowles, Jonathan Wainwright, 2014-03-26 Reappraising the Seicento presents new perspectives on some relatively well researched areas of music history and adumbrates some more arcane aspects of the period offered by fledgling scholars and early career researchers in the field of musicology The scope of the title has the potential to warrant a tome on the subject but it is not the intention to provide a comprehensive survey of music in the seventeenth century Instead five essays are presented divided into two sections which represent the research activities of young scholars with an interest in the seicento In the first part of this book compositional procedure in seicento Italy is examined through two different analytical procedures Musical styles and fashions changed considerably throughout Europe in the seventeenth century at the forefront of these changes were Italian composers and performers who found fame and influence in their native countries as well as abroad In the second part of this book the dissemination of Italian music in seventeenth century England and the appropriation and assimilation of contemporary Italian compositional techniques by English composers are considered The phenomenal interest shown in Italian music by English patrons and musicians of the seventeenth century is placed into context and is revealed to be part of a larger historical trend

Dangerous Allies Malcolm Fraser, Cain Roberts, 2016-04-12 Australia has always been reliant on great and powerful friends for its sense of national security and for direction on its foreign policy first on the British Empire and now on the United States Australia has actively pursued a policy of strategic dependence believing that making a grand bargain with a powerful ally was the best policy to ensure its security and prosperity Dangerous Allies examines Australia's history of strategic dependence and questions the continuation of this position It argues that international circumstances in the world and in the Western Pacific especially now make such a policy highly questionable Since the fall of the Soviet Union the United States has also changed dramatically making it less relevant to Australia and a less appropriate ally on which Australia should rely Malcolm Fraser argues that Australia should adopt a much greater degree of independence in foreign policy and that we should no longer merely follow other nations into wars of no direct interest to Australia or Australia's security He argues for an end to strategic dependence and for the timely establishment of a truly independent Australia

Modernisation in EU-Russian Relations: Past, Present and Future

Maxine David, Tatiana Romanova, 2017-10-02 Written as EU Russia relations began their swift decline as a result of the Ukrainian crisis this book examines the nature of these two actors relationship in respect of their Partnership for Modernisation The contributing authors look at modernisation through different lenses applying varying methodologies delivering historical analysis economic analysis levels of analysis debate which brings along transnational transgovernmental and intergovernmental relations and interrelations between the EU and its member states discourse analysis new institutionalism as well as policy analysis The authors each identify the importance of modernisation for Russia demonstrating why despite the current state of relations between Moscow and Brussels modernisation remains relevant for EU Russian relations At the same time the plurality of the chapters shows the complexity of the relationship that will have to be taken into account in order to overcome the current crisis and construct sustainable and mutually beneficial relations

Small and Medium-sized Enterprises in International Economic Law Thilo Rensmann, 2017 International economic law with its traditional focus on large multinational enterprises is only slowly waking up to the new reality of small and medium sized enterprises SMEs In the wake of the digital revolution smaller companies now play an important role in the economic landscape In 2015 the UN expressly called for SMEs to have greater access to international trade and investment and it is increasingly recognized that the integration of SMEs provides one of the keys to creating a more sustainable and inclusive global economy As born global SMEs increasingly permeate transnational supply chains so interactions between these companies and legal policy makers proliferate Small and Medium sized Enterprises in International Economic Law offers the first comprehensive analysis of the interaction between SMEs and international economic law This book presents a broad international perspective gathering together contributions by leading experts from academia legal practice and international organizations It opens up a field of enquiry into this so far unexplored dynamic and provide a touchstone for future debate Diverse perspectives illuminate regional developments in particular within the EU such as State Aid and the implications of multinational free trade partnership agreements The analysis covers a broad spectrum of international trade and investment law focusing on issues of particular interest to SMEs such as trade in services government procurement and trade facilitation The essays also examine questions of legitimacy and conduct in the global marketplace in particular concerns surrounding the threat posed to the interests of domestic SMEs by the growing liberalization of international trade and investment These essays constitute essential reading for practitioners and academics seeking to navigate a previously neglected trend in international economic law

Corporate versus National Interest in US Trade Policy Richard L. Bernal,2020-10-31 This book provides a history of the WTO US EU banana dispute through the lens of a major actor the US owned multinational firm Chiquita Brands International It documents and explains how Chiquita succeeded in having the Clinton administration pursue a trade policy of forcing the European Union to dismantle its preferential banana import regime for exports from the small English speaking Caribbean ESC countries The export of bananas was critically important to the social stability and economic viability of these countries and that was in the national security interest of the United States The experience indicates that succeeding in this goal was detrimental to U S national security interest in the Caribbean

Regulating Information Asymmetry in the Residential Real Estate Market Devin Lin,2017-07-06 This book conducts a detailed examination of the current form of the Hong Kong residential property regulatory system the 2013 Residential Properties Firsthand Sales Ordinance Cap 621 The author sheds light on how the new legislation promotes a number of values including information symmetry consumer protection the free market and business efficacy It provides a detailed account of how the regulatory mechanism has evolved over the past three decades to catch unconscionable sales tactics such as selective information and or misrepresentation of location size completion date and past transactions and monitor sales practices in order to protect the interests of stakeholders in this ever changing first hand residential property market This book breaks down this complicated subject matter by focusing a number of chapters each on a specific attribute of the residential property on sale It then examines the various channels through which the information is communicated to the prospective buyer and discusses misrepresentation of the key information in sales of residential properties as criminal liability The tension between consumer s rights on one hand and the pursuit of free market principles on the other is but one example of the conflicting values thoroughly discussed in the book others include superstition vs modernization and clarity vs flexibility Aimed at those with an interest in consumer protection and transparency orientated legislation in commercialized real estate transactions this book seeks to provide an in depth discussion of the latest trends and directions of travel

Reconceptualizing English Education in a Multilingual Society Isabel Pefianco Martin,2018-03-01 This book brings together chapters that describe investigate and analyze the place of English in education in multilingual Philippines Unlike most studies on languages in education which take a neutral de contextualized stance this volume take a pluricentric view of the English language by positioning it in relation to its varieties as well as to other languages in the country Because of the changing realities of English in the Philippines traditional assumptions about the language as monolithic and unchanging as well as about how it should be taught and learned need to be revisited and re conceptualized

Trade Policy between Law, Diplomacy and Scholarship Christoph Herrmann,Bruno Simma,Rudolf Streinz,2015-06-20 This book presents 22 topical contributions on international trade law and policy with a particular focus on EU external trade law addressing countries ranging from Ukraine to Switzerland and the US TTIP and aspects from trade and IPRs to anti dumping The volume constitutes a state of the art treatment of the many facets of trade policy in the 21st century from legal diplomatic and academic standpoints The book is dedicated to the memory of Horst G nter Krenzler former Director General for External Relations for the European Commission and Chief Negotiator for the European Union in many trade negotiations honorary professor of European Union law at the University of Munich and an of counsel with Freshfields Brussels office after retirement from the Commission

The Transformation of Foreign Policy Gunther Hellmann,Andreas Fahrmeir,Miloš Vec,2016-07-14 The study of foreign policy is usually concerned with the interaction of states and thus with governance structures which emerged either with the so called Westphalian system or in the course of the 18th century diplomacy and international law As a result examining foreign policy in earlier periods involves conceptual and terminological difficulties which echo current debates on post national foreign policy actors like the European Union or global cities This volume argues that a novel understanding of what constitutes foreign policy may offer a way out of this problem It considers foreign policy as the outcome of processes that make some boundaries different from others and set those that separate communities in an internal space apart from those that mark foreignness

The creation of such boundaries which can be observed at all times designates specific actors which can be but do not have to be states as capable of engaging in foreign policy As such boundaries are likely to be contested they are unlikely to provide either a single or a simple distinction between insides and outsides In this view multiple layers of foreign policy actors with different characteristics appear less as a modern development and more as a perennial aspect of foreign policy In a broad perspective stretching from early Greek polities to present day global cities the volume offers a theoretical and empirical presentation of this concept by political scientists jurists and historians Airline Operations and Management Gerald N. Cook, Bruce G. Billig, 2017-02-03 Airline Operations and Management A Management Textbook is a survey of the airline industry mostly from a managerial perspective It integrates and applies the fundamentals of several management disciplines particularly economics operations marketing and finance in developing the overview of the industry The focus is on tactical rather than strategic management that is specialized or unique to the airline industry The primary audiences for this textbook are both senior and graduate students of airline management but it should also be useful to entry and junior level airline managers and professionals seeking to expand their knowledge of the industry beyond their own functional area
