Geographic Information Science George Cho, 2005-09-27 Spatial information users and providers are increasingly concerned about the legal implications relating to the use and dissemination of geographic information for which there are no right or wrong methods of practice and no one source of information This book fills the gap by addressing key issues in contract law intellectual property law rights and responsibilities and liability as they relate to the GI community The first book to interpret the law relating to GI Science and outline its implications to a general readership Provides a comprehensive discourse in law and GI Science irrespective of jurisdiction Offers a global perspective throughout with case materials coming from the UK North America the EU and Australasia

Islands in Geography, Law, and Literature Chiara Battisti, Sidia Fiorato, Matteo Nicolini, Thomas Perrin, 2022-04-04 This collection explores the heterogeneous places we have traditionally been taught to term islands It stages a conversation on the very idea of island ness thus contributing to a new field of research at the crossroads of law geography literature urban planning politics arts and cultural studies The contributions to this volume discuss the notion of island ness as a device triggering the imagination triggering narratives and representations in different creative fields they explore the interactions between legal socio political and fictional approaches to remoteness and the state of insularity policy responses to both remoteness and boundaries on different scales and the insular legal framing of geographical remoteness The product of a cross disciplinary exchange on islands this edited volume will be of great interest to those working in the fields of Island Studies as well as literary studies scholars geographers and legal scholars

Geopolitics at the End of the Twentieth Century Nurit Kliot, David Newman, 2013-11-05 An excellent examination of how the collapse of the Soviet Union and the impact of globalization have brought about changes not only to the territorial configuration sovereignty of states and their boundaries but also to traditional notions of state boundaries sovereignty and social order These essays focus on the key regional and geopolitical characteristics of this global reordering with an emphasis on Eastern Europe and South Asia They discuss the territorial reordering which is taking place at the level of the state as boundaries are redemarcated in line with ethno territorial demands as borders are transversed by the movement of peoples information and finance and as the lines of territorial demarcation are perceived not only in terms of their fixed characteristics but as part of a process through which regional and ethnic identities continue to be formed and reformed Each section ends with articles which focus on literature on geopolitics and boundaries This is an invaluable addition to our understanding of contemporary world affairs Special Warfare Area Handbook for Cuba American University (Washington, D.C.). Foreign Areas Studies Division,1961 How India Became Territorial Itty Abraham,2014-08-20 Why do countries go to war over disputed lands Why do they fight even when the territories in question are economically and strategically worthless Drawing on critical approaches to international relations political geography international law and social history and based on a close examination of the Indian experience during the twentieth century Itty Abraham addresses these important questions and offers a new conceptualization of foreign policy as a state territorializing practice Identifying the contested process of decolonization as the root of contemporary Asian inter state territorial conflicts he explores the political implications of establishing a fixed territorial homeland as a necessary starting point for both international recognition and national identity concluding that disputed lands are important because of their intimate identification with the legitimacy of the postcolonial nation state rather than because of their potential for economic gains or their place in historic grievances By treating Indian diaspora policy and geopolitical practice as exemplars of foreign policy behavior Abraham demonstrates how their intersection offers an entirely new way of understanding India s vexed relations with Pakistan and China This approach offers a new and productive way of thinking about foreign policy and inter state conflicts over territory in Asia one that is non U S and non European focused that has a number of implications for regional security and for foreign policy practices in the contemporary postcolonial world Circular ,1961 Ch. 1. Collective Wisdom Hélène Landemore,Jon Elster,2012-07-16 The contributors to this volume discuss and for the most part challenge whether many minds can be wiser than one Manufacturing Culture Meric S. Gertler,2004-02-19 Recent years have seen a lively debate over the role of tacit knowledge and interactive learning in privileging the local over the global Yet our continuing inability to answer questions such as when and why is the local important in production and innovation processes indicates that our understanding of the firm and the forces that shape its managers choices remains weak Such a theory ought to be able to answer fundamental questions like why do firms in particular places adopt particular production and innovation practices and not others What forces determine what a firm knows and when it is able to act upon this knowledge How easy is it to transfer this knowledge between places This book presents a new conception of industrial practice and firm behaviour It explains how the cultures that shape the practices of firms and the trajectories of regional and national economies are actually produced The analysis shows how the internal and inter firm organization of production use of technologies and the industrial knowledge underpinning these practices are strongly influenced by their social and institutional context Routine forms of behaviour are not simply inherited from past practice Instead they are shaped and constrained though not wholly determined by a set of institutions that govern how work is organized workers are deployed and technology is implemented Because of the slowly evolving nature of these institutions distinctive national models are not converging around a single global norm Novel Approaches to Anthropology Marilyn Cohen,2013-09-05 This volume of interdisciplinary essays reflect current contributions to literary anthropology Novel Approaches to Anthropology Contributions to Literary Anthropology showcases the myriad ways that anthropologists bring their disciplinary perspectives theories concepts and pedagogical strategies to interpreting fiction and travel writing written in the past and present The authors integrate insights from the reflexive deconstructive turn in anthropology and from critical Marxist and feminist approaches that ground interpretation in the political economic and social constraints and experiences of everyday life The contributors share the view that fiction like all artistic expression is rooted in specific historical and cultural contexts

Literature like all artistic expression stimulates a critical imagination by allowing readers to take a fresh look at their own society and culture The Memorialization of Genocide Simone Gigliotti,2017-10-02 Divided societies tormented pasts and unrepentant perpetrators Why are some countries more intent on vanquishing uncomfortable pasts than others How do public and often unsightly attempts at memorialisation both fail the victims and valorize their oppressors This book offers fresh and original perspectives on dictatorship fascism and victimization from the bloodiest decades in Europe s Australia s and Central America s colonial and modern history Chapters include analyses of Francoist memorials in Spain assessments of the El Mozote massacre in El Salvador the forgetting of frontier colonial violence in Tasmania Romania s treatment of its Roma populations in the midst of Holocaust memorialisation in Bucharest s urban development and whether or not the Holocaust continues to serve as an instructional model or impossible aspiration for cross cultural genocide memorialisation strategies In an era of ongoing political ethnic and religious conflict and unrepentant insurgent activity around the world this collection reminds readers that genocidal actions wherever and whenever they occurred must be held to account by more than rhetoric and concrete memory This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Genocide Research

Colonial Survey and Native Landscapes in Rural South Africa, 1850 - 1913 Lindsay F. Braun,2014-10-16 In Colonial Survey and Native Landscapes in Rural South Africa 1850 1913 Lindsay Frederick Braun explores the technical processes and struggles surrounding the creation and maintenance of boundaries and spaces in South Africa in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The precision of surveyors and other colonial technicians lent these enterprises an illusion of irreproachable objectivity and authority even though the reality was far messier Using a wide range of archival and printed materials from survey departments repositories and libraries the author presents two distinct episodes of struggle over lands and livelihoods one from the Eastern Cape and one from the former northern Transvaal These cases expose the contingencies contests and negotiations that fundamentally shaped these changing South African landscapes

Approaches to Teaching Cabeza de Vaca's Account and Other Texts Luis Fernando Restrepo, Carlos A.

Jáuregui, 2025-04-25 In 1527 Ibarra N. Cabeza de Vaca journeyed from Spain to Florida with the ill-fated Pánfilo de Narváez expedition and ended up wandering by land for years with a small band of survivors before reaching Spanish outposts in modern-day Mexico. He later traveled to South America as an appointed provincial governor only to be sent back to Spain in chains some years after his arrival. His written works describing his experiences provide insights into the lives of the indigenous peoples of the Americas and the attitudes of the Spanish conquistadores. This volume provides background about the texts and discusses new ways to teach them, challenging outdated readings that erase the violence of Spanish imperialism. Essays examine the role of the enslaved African Esteban in Cabeza de Vaca's account of the North American expedition, the indigenous and Spanish women who appear in the explorer's texts, Cabeza de Vaca's performance of multiple gender roles, and the reception of these works as examples of Chicano or Latin American literature. The volume also explores connections to archaeological findings and food studies.

The Invention of Time and Space Patrice F. Dasso, 2016-09-30 This investigation of time and space is motivated by gaps in our current understanding by the lack of definitions by our failure to appreciate the nature of these entities by our inability to pin down their properties. The author's approach is based on two key ideas. The first idea is to seek the geo-historical origins of time and space concepts. A thorough investigation of a diversified archaeological corpus allows him to draft coherent definitions; it furthermore gives clues as to whether time and space were discovered or invented. The second idea is to define the units before trying to define space and time. The results presented here are unexpected. Time and space were not discovered in nature but they were invented; time is not a phenomenon and space has no materiality; they are only concepts. This runs contrary to the opinion of most scientific and the philosophical authorities, although one would seek in vain for a theoretical validation of the conventional position. This book will provide much food for thought for philosophers and scientists as well as interested general readers.

Engineering, 1918 Engineering; an Illustrated Weekly Journal, 1918

Sacred History Katherine Van Liere, Simon Ditchfield, Howard Louthan, 2012-05-24 The first geographically broad comparative survey of early modern sacred history or writing on the history of the Christian Church, its leaders and saints, and its internal developments in the two centuries from c. 1450 to c. 1650.

A Jurisprudence of Movement Olivia Barr, 2016-02-22 Law moves whether we notice or not. Set amongst a spatial turn in the humanities and jurisprudence, more specifically, this book calls for a greater attention to legal movement in both its technical and material forms. Despite various ways the spatial turn has been taken up in legal thought, questions of law, movement, and its materialities are too often overlooked. This book addresses this oversight and it does so through an attention to the materialities of legal movement. Paying attention to how law moves across different colonial and contemporary spaces, this book reveals there is a problem with common law's place. Primarily set in the postcolonial context of Australia, although ranging beyond this nationalised topography, both spatially and temporally, this book argues movement is fundamental to the very terms of common law's existence. How then might we move well? Explored through examples of walking and burial, this book responds to the challenge of how to live with a contemporary form of colonial legal inheritance by arguing we must take seriously the challenge of living with law and think more carefully about its spatial productions and place-making activities. Unsettling place returns the question of movement to jurisprudence. Bodyspace Nancy Duncan, 1996. A collection of some of the best known geographers currently writing on gender and sexuality. Issues such as citizenship, work, domestic and homophobic violence, and marginalized sexual identities are examined within a geographical context.
