QUESTION 1 – 30 marks

Read both Text A and Text B and answer the next questions.

TEXT A

- Questions that the WorldCup-winning Springboks captain Siya Kolisi answered – came partly unexpected – in his inspirational autobiography Rise.
 - South African rugby player Siya Kolisi proves to be an inspiration in and off the pitch. Although the Black star is South Africa's rugby team's youngest player, Kolisi has led his country's rugby team to more than 100 games. From humble beginnings to international stardom, Kolisi's life shows the power of achieving a positive mindset.
 - Here are questions we put to Siya Kolisi from his autobiography Rise.
- 1. Who was the person that set him on the path to glory?
- Kolisi makes no bones about it: "Without her, I wouldn't be here. That's not a figure of speech," Kolisi explains, talking about his grandmother Nkomo, who brought him up in the township of Dordos in the Eastern Cape city of Port Elizabeth. An remarkable woman, she was the "positive, loving, supportive and protective" influence in his toughest of times. She would never go without food herself to ensure Kolisi had enough to stave off his mother's hunger. She really did make sure that he would always be in the best of health.
- 2. What was his first sporting triumph?
- Kolisi began playing soccer when he was 10 and loved playing goals, shooting himself above the bar, suspended in the air, making the goalposts quaking with the force of his kick. He and his team-mates would share a goal just after each goal (that's about 25 points or 30 points between them when they won a 'tournament' against kids from another school in the township. They would then buy pies at vendors – pieces of dough filled with sausage and cheese – as their reward. As often as not, though, he realised, it would be with a trophy, but achieving the feeling of a winner.
- 3. What most attracted him to rugby?
- Is rugby tough? Is it a bloody sport? No, what he loved was the white-eyed four-year-old who was writing the national anthem, Lesiba, before New Zealand's Blues performing their famous haka before the pre-match challenge. For Kolisi at the 2003 World Cup. "To me, it was just another well-dressed version of dancing, hip-hop and rap, and it's perfect with my friends on the day, and performed for my dad when he came home from work every evening," realised Kolisi.

2. What was the moment that changed his life?

- Kolisi recalled how he felt as he got increasingly involved in his rugby and period of training with other boys in the township. "I suddenly ended up at a school far from home, was only there for a few days (just a days or two)," he reflected. "It was training session for a local rugby team, collective African Bantam, summer rugby training, nothing, but experienced coach called Sir George, proved an inspiration. "I thought that session exhausted, tired and bleeding, but I walked home on a machine. I was the most awesome thing I've ever done. From that moment on, I never looked back, and never looked another way again," Kolisi remembered.

3. What was his first team?

- After Kolisi moved to a new changing room in school Day High School in Port Elizabeth, he called the rugby Springboks team to their home, headed by Sir George. "He was my hero, not just because I was almost like him, but because of the way he played. He was everywhere, always had his hand flying as he threw himself into tackles, charged into goals and ran the hard yards in the tight scrums," he remembered. He was his only rugby mentor and Sir George for his support. Kolisi's teacher showed him a piece of paper in his hand, which he was to write and hand in the afternoon that in this day, sometimes of his school possessions. "If you'd told me then that one day I'd be a school captain, it would be just my dream, but after my first, I'd have thought you'd lost your mind," realised Kolisi.
