Precarity and Belonging Catherine S. Ramírez, Sylvanna M. Falcón, Juan Poblete, Steven C. McKay, Felicity Amaya Schaeffer, 2021-06-18 Precarity and Belonging examines how the movement of people and their incorporation marginalization and exclusion under epochal conditions of labor and social precarity affecting both citizens and noncitizens have challenged older notions of citizenship and alienage This collection brings mobility precarity and citizenship together in order to explore the points of contact and friction and thus the spaces for a possible politics of commonality between citizens and noncitizens The editors ask What does modern citizenship mean in a world of citizens denizens and noncitizens such as undocumented migrants guest workers permanent residents refugees detainees and stateless people How is the concept of citizenship based on assumptions of deservingness legality and productivity challenged when people of various and competing statuses and differential citizenship practices interact with each other revealing their co constitutive connections How is citizenship valued or revalued when labor and social precarity impact those who seemingly have formal rights and those who seemingly or effectively do not This book interrogates such binaries as citizen noncitizen insider outsider entitled unentitled legal illegal and deserving undeserving in order to explore the fluidity that is the dynamism and malleability of the spectra of belonging fighting back against the Canadian government to demand rights and respect for temporary foreign labourers Harvesting Freedom shows Canada's place in the long history of slavery colonialism and inequality that has linked the Caribbean to the wider world for half a millennium but also the tireless determination of Caribbean people to fight for their freedom

Liberty Letter, 1965 Supporting College Students of Immigrant Origin Blake R. Silver, Graziella Pagliarulo McCarron, 2024-05-31 Over 5 million college students in the United States nearly one in three students currently enrolled are of immigrant origin meaning they are either the children of immigrant parents or guardians and or immigrants themselves These students accounted for almost 60% of the growth in higher education enrolment in the 21st century Nevertheless there is very little research dedicated to this student population's specific experiences of postsecondary education with similar absences discernible within the realms of higher education policy and practice Although college campuses are making important progress in building more inclusive spaces conversations about climate and student care rarely account for the journeys of students of immigrant origin Featuring 20 chapters written by more than 50 contributors this book addresses this glaring omission The authors examine how students of immigrant origin experience the road to through and beyond higher education while simultaneously speaking to evidence based implications for policy research and practice Driving Towards a More Diverse Space Physics Research Community – Perspectives, Initiatives, Strategies, and Actions Michael W. Liemohn, McArthur Jones, Xochitl Blanco-Cano, John Coxon, Alexa Jean Halford, Chigomezoyo Ngwira, 2023-10-27 Welcoming Cities Jacqueline Broadhead, 2025-09-24 A truly welcoming and inclusive city is not just an aspiration it is essential to the future of our increasingly diverse urban societies Yet too often policy and practice lack the theoretical and research foundations needed for meaningful and effective implementation This book bridges this gap offering an interdisciplinary framework grounded in empirical research and case studies from 12 UK cities and international partners Engaging with key governance challenges it explores how cities define and implement welcoming policies across multiple sectors Moving beyond critique this book provides a constructive action oriented approach to integration and social cohesion It will be essential reading for UK policy makers regional leaders and scholars from sociology and political science to migration studies and urban governance West Across the Pacific Hilary Conroy, Francis Conroy, Sophie Quinn-Judge, 2008 This book addresses the problem of a country telling a grand narrative to itself that does not hold up under closer examination a narrative that leads to possibly avoidable war In particular the book explains and questions the narrative the United States was telling itself about East Asia and the Pacific in the late 1930s with in retrospect the Pacific War only a few years away Through empirical methods it details how the standard narrative failed to understand what was really happening based on documents that later became available The documents researched are from the Diet Library in Japan the Foreign Office in London the National Archives in Washington the University of Hawaii's library in Honolulu and several other primary sources This research reveals opportunities unexplored that involve lessons of seeing things from the other side's point of view and of valuing the contribution of in between people who tried to be peacemakers The crux of the standard narrative was that the United States unlike European imperialist powers involved itself in East Asia in order to bring openness the Open Door and democracy and that it was increasingly confronted by an opposing force Japan that had imperial closed and undemocratic designs This standard American narrative was later opposed by a revisionist narrative that found the United States culpable of a neo imperialism just as the European powers and Japan were guilty of imperialism However what West Across the Pacific shows is that while there is indubitably some truth in both the standard and the revisionist versions more careful documentary research reveals that the most important thing lost in the 1898 1941 period may have been the real opportunity for mutual recognition and understanding for cooler heads and more neutral realistic policies to emerge and for more attention to the standpoint of the common men and women caught up in the migrations of the period West Across the Pacific is both a contribution to peace research in history and to a foreign policy guided modestly by empiricism and realism as the most reliable method It is a must read for diplomats and people concerned about diplomacy as it probes the microcosms of diplomatic negotiations This brings special relevance and approachability as yet another generation of Americans returns from war and occupation in Iraq The book also speaks to Vietnam veterans by drawing lessons from the Japanese war in China for the American war in Vietnam This is particularly true of the conclusion co authored by distinguished Vietnam specialist Sophie Quinn Judge PC Mag ,1983-02 PCMag com is a leading authority on technology delivering Labs based independent reviews of the latest products and services Our expert industry analysis and practical solutions help you make better buying decisions and get more from technology Debates on U.S. Immigration Judith Gans,Elaine M. Memoirs of a Deployed Airman Patrick B. Monahan, 2009

Almost as if it were a dream day number 360 came and I was transported into another world The flights were long but within just a couple of days I found myself back at my original starting point Salt Lake City Utah Before arriving in Salt Lake City though I was greeted by my parents and my in laws at Baltimore Washington International BWI airport As I scrambled through the baggage claim area and customs I made my way towards my release from the regimented deployment world Both sets of parents were poised and ready to greet me and my friends returning from overseas Upon catching a glimpse of me they popped out of their seats and began waving small American flags in my general direction It was very nice to see them and it was a nice patriotic sight I arrived at the airport at approximately midnight and I was hungry so we all went out to eat at an all night diner in Arlington Virginia It was about 0300 in the morning when we finished up our meal and headed back to my in laws house to sleep I caught an 1800 flight the next day which brought me to Salt Lake City at approximately 2300 that night The second leg of my flight from Phoenix Arizona was very comfortable and relaxing Wearing my DCUs one of the flight attendant s decided to move me to First Class Not only did this provide me with more comfort but it also provided me an opportunity to sit next to her husband who had joined her on the flight I had a really nice conversation with the flight attendant s husband throughout the flight Then as we landed in Salt Lake City the flight attendant announced to all of the people on the flight that I had just returned home from the war in Afghanistan Everyone began to clap and I received the honor of being the first person off of the airplane I then began my mad dash towards my family People noticed that I was in uniform holding two little bears one for each of my girls and I was practically running so everyone pretty much got out of my way Within minutes I saw Melanie holding a Welcome Home poster and my girls waving small American flags It was a very impressive and precious sight I scooped up both of my daughters in my hands and I embraced the whole family The nice thing was that Suzanna didn t cry everyone seemed to at least have some idea who I was this time In fact Annabelle wouldn t hardly let me go out of her sight for the next few days I learned several days later that Annabelle had a lot of trouble sleeping while I was gone which was attributed to me not being there and her not knowing when I would come home This latter fact is what changed my mindset from wanting to go back to the combat zone any time soon While I was gone I made the most of my deployment and I even learned to enjoy many aspects of the adventure However when you see the effects of being gone on the homefront nothing else seems to matter but family Would I go again Absolutely But I would certainly wait for my number to come up or for someone to come asking for my assistance a little more passionately When I arrived at my actual home in the Ogden Utah area I quickly noticed several decorations on the property I hadn t expected such extravagance but I was certainly impressed by what I saw As I walked around the house and the yard in my civilians clothes the next day surrounded by my family I finally felt like I was home
