SOFSEM'99: Theory and Practice of Informatics Jan Pavelka, Gerard Tel, Miroslav Bartosek, 2003-07-31 This year the SOFSEM conference is coming back to

Milovy in Moravia to be held for the 26 time Although born as a local Czechoslovak event 25 years ago SOFSEM did not miss the opportunity offered in 1989 by the newly found freedom in our part of Europe and has evolved into a full edged international conference For all the changes however it has kept its generalist and multidisciplinary character

The tracks of invited talks ranging from Trends in Theory to Software and Information Engineering attest to this Apart from the topics mentioned above SOFSEM 99 offers invited talks exploring core technologies talks tracing the path from data to knowledge and those describing a wide variety of applications

The rich collection of invited talks presents one traditional facet of SOFSEM that of a winter school in which IT researchers and professionals get an opportunity to see more of the large pasture of today's computing than just their favourite grazing corner To facilitate this purpose the prominent researchers delivering invited talks usually start with a broad overview of the state of the art in a wider area and then gradually focus on their particular subject

3D Geo-Information Sciences Jiyeong Lee, Siyka Zlatanova, 2008-10-24 In recent years 3D geo information has become an important research area due to the increased complexity of tasks in many geo scientific applications such as sustainable urban planning and development civil engineering risk and disaster management and environmental monitoring Moreover a paradigm of cross application merging and integrating of 3D data is observed The problems and challenges facing today s 3D software generally application oriented focus almost exclusively on 3D data transportability issues the ability to use data originally developed in one modelling visualisation system in other and vice versa Tools for elaborated 3D analysis simulation and prediction are either missing or when available dedicated to specific tasks In order to respond to this increased demand a new type of system has to be developed A fully developed 3D geo information system should be able to manage 3D geometry and topology to integrate 3D geometry and thematic information to analyze both spatial and topological relationships and to present the data in a suitable form In addition to the simple geometry types like point line and polygon a large variety of parametric representations freeform curves and surfaces or sweep shapes have to be supported Approaches for seamless conversion between 3D raster and 3D vector representations should be available they should allow analysis of a representation most suitable for a specific application

Information Systems Adrian Stanculescu, 2008 The Graphical User Interface GUI as the most prevailing type of User Interface UI in today's interactive applications restricts the interaction with a computer to the visual modality and is therefore not suited for some users e.g. with limited literacy or typing skills in some circumstances e.g. while moving around with their hands or eyes busy or when the environment is constrained e.g. the keyboard and the mouse are not available In order to go beyond the GUI constraints the Multimodal MM UIs appear as a paradigm that provides users with great expressive power naturalness and flexibility In this thesis we argue that developing MM UIs combining graphical and vocal modalities is an activity that could benefit from the application of a methodology which is composed of a set of models a method manipulating these models and the tools implementing the method Therefore we define a design space based method that is supported by model to model colored transformations in order to obtain MM UIs of information systems The design space is composed of explicitly defined design options that clarify the development process in a structured way in order to require less design effort The feasibility of the methodology is demonstrated through three case studies with different levels of complexity and coverage In addition an empirical study is conducted with end users in order to measure the relative usability level provided by different design decisions
