Overall, we are getting a lot more confidence from people. I consider this progress. But I still think we have a lot of work to do. We have to make sure that the people who are most in need of help are getting it. We have to make sure that the people who are most in need of help are getting it.

David Ignatius, a New Yorker, 47, says his experience at the Pentagon is one of the most surreal. "It is as if this whole world is extremely well-oiled and then suddenly this bomb goes off and it's like the whole thing is just blowing up. And you're there, and you're in a position where, at the moment, there is some major importance about something," and the "moment" can turn to chaos.
