Marine Mammal Health and Stranding Response Program, 2009 Mammal activity signs: Atlas, identification keys and research methods Vadim Sidorovich, Nikolaj Vorobej, 2013-09-01 Mammals of Ungava and Labrador Scott A. Heyes, Kristofer M. Helgen, 2014-02-25 In 1882 the Smithsonian Institution Arctic scientist Lucien McShan Turner traveled to the Ungava District that encompasses Northern Quebec and Labrador There he spent 20 months as part of a mission to record meteorological data for an International Polar Year research program While stationed at the Hudson s Bay Company Trading Post of Fort Chimo in Ungava Bay now the Inuit community of Kuujuaq he soon tired of his primary task and expanded his duties to a study of the natural history and ethnography of the Aboriginal peoples of the region His ethnography of the Inuit and Innu people was published in 1894 but his substantial writings on natural history never made it to print Presented here for the first time is the natural history material that Lucien M Turner wrote on mammals of the Ungava and Labrador regions His writings provide a glimpse of the habits and types of mammals that roamed Ungava 125 years ago in what was an unknown frontier to non Inuit and non Innu people A ^AField Guide to the Mammals of Central America and Southeast Mexico Fiona A. Reid, 2009-06-09 This is the only comprehensive guide to mammals in Central America and Southeast Mexico Unlike most field guides it covers smaller mammals in depth and also provides an extensive bibliography In addition to detailed species accounts and range maps for all species the book has 52 full color plates The 49 animal plates cover almost all the species in the region 4 color maps are new to the second edition detailing parks elevations and biomes in the region Management of Amphibians, Reptiles, and Small Mammals in North America Robert C. Szaro, Kieth E. Severson, David R. Patton, 1988 Historically the management of public lands from a multiple use perspective has led to a system that emphasizes those habitat components or faunal elements that primarily resulted in some sort of definable economic value While this often benefitted other species that were not even considered in the original prescriptions it also negatively impacted others We no longer can afford to take this simplistic view of ecosystem management We need to use a more holistic approach where ecological landscapes are considered as units and land management practices incorporate all elements into an integrated policy This includes examining the impacts of proposed land uses on amphibian reptile and small mammal populations Small Mammals Susan A. Brown, Karen L. Rosenthal, 1997-04-01 Veterinary practitioners are faced regularly by diseases and disorders in a large and ever increasing range of small mammalian patients The Editors have gathered together contributions from 29 experts who cover all aspects of medicine and surgery in small mammals including rabbits guinea pigs rodents hedgehogs ferrets primates squirrels fo

Annual Report of the Marine Mammal Commission United States. Marine Mammal Commission, 2007 Mammals of Africa: Volume I Jonathan Kingdon, 2014-11-20 Mammals of Africa MoA is a series of six volumes which describes in detail every currently recognized species of African land mammal This is the first time that such extensive coverage has ever been attempted and the volumes incorporate the very latest information and detailed discussion of the morphology distribution biology and evolution including reference to fossil and molecular data of Africa's mammals. With more than 1 160 species and 16 18 orders Africa has the greatest diversity and abundance of mammals in the world. The reasons for this and the mechanisms behind their evolution are given special attention in the series. Each volume follows the same format with detailed profiles of every species and higher taxa. The series includes hundreds of colour illustrations and pencil drawings by Jonathan Kingdon highlighting the morphology and behaviour of the species concerned as well as line drawings of skulls and jaws by Jonathan Kingdon and Meredith Happold. Every species also includes a detailed distribution map. Edited by Jonathan Kingdon, David Happold, Tom Butynski, Mike Hoffmann, Meredith Happold and Jan Kalina and written by more than 350 authors, all experts in their fields, Mammals of Africa is as comprehensive a compendium of current knowledge as is possible. Extensive references alert readers to more detailed information. This first volume in the series comprises eight introductory chapters covering topics such as evolution, geography and geology, biotic zones, classification, behaviour and morphology. The rest of the book is devoted to the Afrotheria, a grouping that comprises six orders and 49 species: these are the hyraxes, elephants, manatees, otters, shrews, golden moles, sengis, elephant shrews and Aardvark. Bowker's Complete Video

Directory 2001, 2001 The Wildlife Techniques Manual Nova J. Silvy, 2012-03. A standard text in a variety of courses, the Techniques Manual as it is commonly called, covers every aspect of modern wildlife management and provides practical information for applying the hundreds of methods described in its pages. To effectively incorporate the explosion of new information in the wildlife profession, this latest edition is logically organized into a two-volume set. Volume 1 is devoted to research techniques and Volume 2 focuses on management methodologies. Mammalogy George A. Feldhamer, Lee C. Drickamer, Stephen H. Vessey, Joseph F. Merritt, Carey Krajewski, 2015-01-01. Reflecting the expertise and perspective of five leading mammalogists, the fourth edition of Mammalogy: Adaptation, Diversity, Ecology significantly updates taxonomy, includes a new chapter on mammalian molecular phylogenetics and highlights several recently described species. There are close to 5 500 species in the class Mammalia, including the blue whale, the largest animal that has ever lived, and the pygmy shrew, which weighs little more than a penny. The functional diversity of mammals has allowed them to play critical roles in every ecosystem, whether marine, freshwater, alpine, tundra, forest or desert. Many mammal species are critically endangered and present complex conservation and management challenges. This book touches on those challenges, which are often precipitated by overharvesting and habitat loss, as well as emerging threats such as the impact of wind turbines and white nose syndrome on bats and chronic wasting disease on deer. Among the updates and additions to the fourth edition of Mammalogy are numerous new photos, figures and cladograms, over 4 200 references, as well as a completely new chapter on mammalian phylogeny and genomics. Current taxonomy, including major changes to orders, suborders and superfamilies of bats and rodents. An explanation of the recent inclusion of whales with terrestrial even-toed ungulates. Updates on mammalian structural functional adaptations and fossil history recent advances in our understanding of phylogeny biogeography social behavior and ecology A discussion of two new orders and thirteen newly recognized extant families Reflections on the implications of climate change for mammals Thorough examinations of several recently described species including Durrell's vontsira Salanoia durrelli and the Laotian rock rat Laonastes aenigmamus An explanation of mammalian biomechanics such as that seen in lunge feeding of baleen whales Breakout boxes on unique aspects of mammals including the syntax of bat songs singing mice and why there are no green mammals unless we count algae covered sloths Maintaining the accessible readable style for which Feldhamer and his coauthors are well known this new edition of Mammalogy is the authoritative textbook on this amazingly diverse class of vertebrates Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications, 1982 Mammal Tracks & Sign Mark Elbroch, 2003 Organized for in the field use or at home reference this guide brings together text line drawings range maps and more than 1 000 color photographs to illustrate and describe the tracks and sign left by North American mammals feeding signs scat burrows tunnels bedding areas rubbings remains and 104 life size tracks Duetting and Turn-Taking Patterns of Singing Mammals: From Genes to Vocal Plasticity, and Beyond Patrice Adret, Dena Jane Clink, Charles T. Snowdon, Sofya Dolotovskaya, 2023-10-23 Mammalian vocal duets and turn taking exchanges long coordinated acoustic signals exchanged between two individuals are primarily found in family living pair bonded mammals with a socially monogamous lifestyle some rodents some lemurs tarsiers titi monkeys a Mentawai langur gibbons and siamangs Duetting and turn taking patterns combine visual chemical tactile and auditory cues to produce some of the most exuberant displays in the realm of animal communication How and why such phenotypes evolved independently across main lineages are fundamental questions at the core of the nature nurture debate Duetting styles ranging from antiphonal non overlapping to simultaneous overlapping emissions have now been documented in various taxa some of which are quite reminiscent of turn taking rules in human conversation Nonetheless much remains to be learned about this complex motor skill and at all four levels of analysis namely 1 developmental processes 2 causal mechanisms 3 functional properties and 4 evolutionary history Given the strong link between this form of coordinated singing and pair bonding gaining a deeper understanding of this kind of cooperative behavior will likely shed more light on the deep evolutionary roots of human culture language and music Transforming Conservation William J. Sutherland, 2022-12-07 There are severe problems with the decision making processes currently widely used leading to ineffective use of evidence faulty decisions wasting of resources and the erosion of public and political support In this book an international team of experts provide solutions The transformation suggested includes rethinking how evidence is assessed combined communicated and used in decision making using effective methods when asking experts to make judgements i.e. avoiding just asking an expert or a group of experts using a structured process for making decisions that incorporate the evidence and having effective processes for learning from actions In each case the specific problem with decision making is described with a range of practical solutions

Adopting this approach to decision making requires societal change so detailed suggestions are made for transforming organisations governments businesses funders and philanthropists The practical suggestions include twelve downloadable checklists The vision of the authors is to transform conservation so it is more effective more cost efficient learns from practice and is more attractive to funders However the lessons of this important book go well beyond conservation to decision makers in any field
