D. Jankowicz, 2013-11-11 The idea for this book came about one Friday afternoon towards the end of a summer term I was giving the third project tutorial of the afternoon The first had been to a BA Business Studies student the second to a part time MBA student and the third to a student registered on the Diploma in Personnel Management programme and a great variety of issues had been dealt with during the course of the time involved Nevertheless I noticed that some of the material was common to all three students I found myself thinking that I was repeating myself and wanting to get through the basics as quickly as possible so that we could move on to the specifics of each particular project which we both each student and I found more interesting to deal with Unfortunately the basics were precisely those topics which I considered essential to the success of any project What's more they dealt with the sort of material which wouldn't on the whole have occurred spontaneously to many students and so it was a necessary part of my job to go through them One or two could be dealt with by issuing a handout and the student could be referred to the library for some of the rest but there wasn't a systematic written compilation of all the points that I needed to make Research Activities, 2003 The Palgrave Handbook of Learning and Teaching International Business and Management Maria Alejandra Gonzalez-Perez, Karen Lynden, Vas Taras, 2019-09-05 This handbook which serves as a follow up text to The Palgrave Handbook of Experiential Learning In International Business reviews theoretical and empirical approaches of experiential learning pedagogy and its role in increasing the effectiveness in teaching and learning of international business and also in the incorporation of international business related concepts and competences in business and non business programs This edition offers a broader and updated perspective on experiential learning pedagogy for international business and management and beyond The first part provides an updated overview of the theories of experiential learning and effectiveness of teaching and learning in international business through the use of experiential learning projects Part two provides a collection of specific applications of experiential learning in International Business and related fields This handbook is a one stop source for international managers business educators and trainers seeking to either select and use an existing experiential learning project or develop new projects and exercises of this kind

Facilitating Learning in the 21st Century: Leading through Technology, Diversity and Authenticity Piet Van den Bossche, Wim H. Gijssels, Richard G. Milder, 2013-03-29 This book tackles the latest challenges in education in the business sector outlining how the students of the future must be taught to adapt to a highly fluid business environment in which their ability to acquire new skills and collaborate with others is more important than possessing facts Taking its cue from the growing body of theory advocating multi faceted and often multilingual education the book focuses on competences and collaborative team oriented project based learning Beginning with a set of studies on the differences in individual learning and ways of supporting students the volume moves on to a collection of papers on learning at the level of the group which include material on team learning and the sharing of knowledge in problem based learning The editors view these factors in education as an inevitable feature of pedagogy reflecting the fact that knowledge and its acquisition is increasingly collaborative in our working lives and especially in business A final section applies the principles developed in the first two parts at an organizational level evaluating the enormous implications these developments in our ideas about learning have for the educational institutions charged with teaching future generations Combining research and theory with practical factors in business education and training the volume provides wide ranging perspectives on developing best practice in the sector

Business Research Projects A. D. Jankowicz, 2013-11-11 about management research has developed and made a more prominent appearance in the relevant literature Both the Academy of Management Review and Management Education and Development have devoted complete special issues to these topics in their impact on theory building and research see section 6 5 While the latter journal continues its editorial team have decamped to set up a new periodical Management Learning which emphasizes current thinking about management research This the New Paradigm postmodern analysis call it what you will is an epistemology whose relevance I argued in my first edition and continue to emphasize in Chapter 6 of the present The appreciation of qualitative approaches to the understanding of organizational life has increased during the last four years approaches seen as complementary to quantitative analysis by many a substitute by some The appearance of the second edition of Miles and Huberman 1994 indicates the growing importance attached to qualitative analysis by many management researchers and I have mentioned some of the techniques they advocate at relevant points in Part Three of this book without attempting or indeed being able to replicate their magnificent work Discourse analysis biography and hermeneutic analysis are among the recent approaches to which pointers are provided in Part Three Similarly the value of arguing a case rather than testing a thesis has been emphasized for some forms of Diploma and MBA work see section 6 4
