Description of the proposed project

Program need and description

Data from the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and Prevention show that American youth are at risk for a multitude of behaviors that are harmful to their health and well-being. These include alcohol, tobacco, e-cigarettes, marijuana, prescription opioid misuse and other illicit drug use, physical inactivity, unhealthy eating, lack of sleep and uncontrolled stress.

Research also indicates that the majority of US youth experience two or more co-existing risk behaviors, and over a third three or more risk behaviors. Together, multiple risk habits interact to compound the pain, suffering and sadness youth and their families experience by increasing the likelihood of injury, illness, and personal and social problems, while hindering positive development of youth.

Marysol Nieves, 2011-10-03 Taking Aim The Business of Being an Artist Today is a practical affordable resource guide filled with invaluable advice for the emerging artist

The book is specially designed to aid visual artists in furthering their careers through unfiltered information about the business practices and idiosyncrasies of the contemporary art world. It demystifies often daunting and opaque practices through first hand testimonials, interviews and commentary from leading artists, curators, gallerists, collectors, critics, art consultants, arts administrators, art fair directors, auction house experts and other art world luminaries. Published in celebration of the 30th anniversary of Artist in the Marketplace (AIM), the pioneering career development program at the Bronx Museum of the Arts, Taking AIM: The Business of Being an Artist Today mirrors the structure and topics featured in the AIM program's weekly workshops and discussions. Each chapter focuses on the specific perspective of an art world insider, from the artist to the public art program director to the blogger. Multiple viewpoints from a range of art professionals provide emerging artists with candid, uncensored information and tools to help them better understand this complex field and develop strategies for building and sustaining successful careers as professional artists. The book ends with an annotated chronology of the past three decades in the contemporary art field and a bibliography of publications, magazine articles, online sources, funding sources, residency programs and other useful information for emerging artists.

The Individual's Guide to Grants Judith B. Margolin, 2012-12-06. This book is a work of conscience. It is the product of a long standing feeling of obligation on my part to write something useful for a special group of people to which you probably belong: individuals who seek grants. In my years as Director of the New York Library of The Foundation Center, each and every day I encountered numbers of individuals looking for grant money. Although I tried to be as supportive as possible in the face of the particular problems shared by this group of library users, my own reaction was one of relative helplessness. Simply stated, most of the fund raising guides, printed directories and computer files purportedly created to serve the fund raising public are of little or no use to individuals who seek funding on their own. These resources are directed toward the nonprofit tax exempt agency which is the most common recipient of foundation, corporate and government largess. They are not designed to respond to the special requirements of the individual grant seeker. In the applicant eligibility index, the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance defines individuals as homeowners, students, farmers, artists, scientists, consumers, small business persons, minors, refugees, aliens, veterans, senior citizens, low income persons, health and educational professionals, builders, contractors, developers, handicapped persons, the physically afflicted. In short, practically everyone qualifies.
