Decent Working Time International Labour Office, 2006 Including international comparative analysis alongside national case studies this volume offers a wealth of information on the new trends which have emerged over the past decades all of which were discussed at the recent 9th International Symposium on Working Time Paris 2004 It looks at the increasing use of results based employment relationships for managers and professionals and the increasing fragmentation of time to more closely tailor staffing needs to customer requirements e g short hours part time work Moreover as operating opening hours rapidly expand toward a 24 hour and 7 day economy the book considers how this has resulted in a growing diversification decentralization and individualization of working hours as well as an increasing tension between enterprises business requirements and workers needs and preferences regarding their hours This new reality has raised some other challenging issues as well and the volume addresses those such as increasing employment insecurity and instability time related social inequalities particularly in relation to gender workers ability to balance their paid work with their personal lives and even the synchronization of working hours with social times such as community activities Labour Jean Vercherand, 2014-06-25 Labour A Heterodox Approach provides a theoretical reconstruction of the labour and job market by examining it in a rich historical context It explores the fundamental implications of the theories of consumption and growth and aims at solving the difficulties raised by the dominant economic theories neoclassical Keynesian supply side by taking into account the dimension of the historical conflict of the labour market and the public intervention that results from it such as the construction of a specific legal framework that is to say labour law The work focuses on providing a description of conflict and intervention the market s leading characteristics and demonstrates that they can be interpreted by introducing two major remedial hypotheses in economic fundamentals It also contributes to solving several theoretical controversies and highlights the two main perspectives on the economic regulation of the labour market Réduction autoritaire du temps de travail à 35 heures : on ne spéculé pas avec l'espoir des Français Sénat, 1998-01-01T00:00:00+01:00 Le gouvernement a décidé de fixer autoritairement et de façon uniforme la durée légale du temps de travail 35 heures hebdomadaires Cette initiative a pour objectif de créer des centaines de milliers d'emplois et d'améliorer les conditions d'existence de nos concitoyens Un tel objectif est-il réaliste Ne risque-t-il pas demain de handicaper gravement nos entreprises et l'économie de quelques années de freiner la croissance et de détruire des emplois Car les 35 heures ainsi imposées constituent un pari Malheureusement au terme de ses travaux la commission d'enquête a constaté que les probabilités de l'échec l'emportaient largement sur celles du succès Parce que ce pari en restant dans une logique tautologique a été mal engagé Parce que les Français ont été mal informés des contraintes de la réforme et les risques d'échec des 35 heures ayant été largement occultés Parce que les partenaires sociaux matures d'œuvre de la réforme n'y sont pas parvenus qu'ils ont d'autres priorités et surtout qu'ils ont le sentiment d'avoir été manipulés ou illusionnés La commission d'enquête malgré les obstacles dressés sur sa route a souhaité faire toute la lumière sur ce projet qui

Smith, 2004-11-11 Timothy Smith argues that the French economy and society is in crisis and that globalization is not to blame Gendering the State in the Age of Globalization Melissa Haussman, Birgit Sauer, 2007-04-26 Gendering the State is a ground breaking collection of studies that examines the efforts of women in countries all over the world to frame public policy debates on nationally critical issues in gendered terms This is the latest volume in the Research Network on Gender and the State RNGS collaborative studies Using the RNGS model of women's movement and women's policy actor strategies to influence public policy debates and state response the book looks at data gathered from ten European countries including Finland and Sweden plus Japan Australia Canada and the United States from the 1990s to today The overall study is grouped into three distinct patterns of state change state downsizing particularly in social policy areas Canada Finland the Netherlands the United States and Spain expansion of state activities into previously less regulated areas Austria France Germany and Sweden and transformation often constitutionally based of representative structures Australia Belgium Italy Japan and the United Kingdom Examination of these patterns reveals the impact of the changes in state structures and national priorities on the effectiveness and ability of women s movement actors in achieving their goals underscoring the need for managers and their organizations to create the conditions under which people will want to maximize their talents on behalf of the organization Work and People focuses on the ramifications of this reality as dysfunctions the difference between planned and emergent activities and functions can quickly lead to a series of costs that are hidden from an organization's formal information systems e.g. income statements balance sheets budgets As his insightful work underscores as organizations begin to accumulate dysfunction upon dysfunction they inadvertently undermine their performance and create excessive operating costs with lower productivity and less efficiency than they could achieve As readers will discover the frameworks tools and ways of thinking about organizations people and management in this volume in essence the background to the socio-economic approach to organizational diagnosis and intervention continue to hold great promise for our attempts to create truly integrative approaches to management and organizational improvement efforts
