

The background of the cover is a surrealist painting of a city street. In the center, a man in a blue sweater and dark trousers walks away from the viewer. To his right, a woman in a yellow jacket and blue skirt walks towards him. On the left, a woman in a green top and red skirt is partially visible. In the foreground, a small white dog is walking. The street is paved with large, irregular stones. In the background, there are buildings with windows and a large, dark, swirling shape that looks like a giant hand or a cloud. The overall style is reminiscent of mid-20th-century surrealist art.

Stranger Than Fiction Edwin Frank, 2024-11-19 One of the Washington Post's 50 Best Nonfiction Books of 2024 A New York Times Book Review Editors' Choice Ambitious intelligent and happily unpretentious Louis Menand The New Yorker Convincing idiosyncratic and often felicitous Alexandra Jacobs The New York Times Book Review A legendary editor's reckoning with the twentieth century novel and the urgent messages it sends How can we live differently a young woman urgently demands in Virginia Woolf's novel The Waves It is the 1930s war and death are in the air but her question was asked again and again in the course of a century where things changed fast and changed all the time The century brought world wars revolutions automobiles movies and the internet votes for women death camps The century brought questions Novelists in the twentieth century had a question of their own how can we write a novel as startling and unforeseen as the world we live in Again and again they did transforming the novel as the century remade the world Imagine the history of the twentieth century novel recounted with the urgency and intimacy of a novel That's what Edwin Frank the legendary editor who has run the New York Review Books publishing imprint since its inception does in Stranger than Fiction With penetrating insight and originality Frank introduces us to books some famous some little known from the whole course of the century and from around the world Starting with Dostoevsky's Notes from Underground of 1864 Frank shows how its twitchy self-undermining and never satisfied narrator established a voice that would echo through the coming century He illuminates the political vision of H G Wells's science fiction Colette and Andre Gide's subversions of traditional gender roles and Gertrude Stein's untethering of the American sentence He describes the monumental ambition of books such as Mrs Dalloway The Magic Mountain and The Man Without Qualities to rebuild a world of human possibility upon the ruins of World War I and explores how Japan's Natsume Soseki and Nigeria's Chinua Achebe broke open European models to reflect their own distinct histories and experience Here too are Vasily Grossman Anna Banti and Elsa Morante reckoning in specific ways with the traumas of World War II while later chapters range from Marguerite Yourcenar and V S Naipaul to Gabriel Garcia Marquez and W G Sebald The story as a whole is one of fearless often reckless exploration as well as unfathomable desolation Throughout we discover the power of the novel to reinvent itself to find a way for itself to live differently Stranger than Fiction offers a new vision of the history and art of the novel and of a dark and dazzling time in whose light and shadow we still stand

Reading Games Kimberly Bohman-Kalaja, 2007 In Reading Games Kimberly Bohman Kalaja guides us through an entertaining and instructive exploration of a neglected genre of post modernism the Play Text Pioneered by authors such as Flann O'Brien Samuel Beckett and Georges Perec Bohman Kalaja's book provides a fresh interpretive approach to understanding the Play Text Providing insightful analysis of the game and play theories and drawing from a wide range of ideas from the thinking of the great philosophers to basic chess and poker strategies Reading Games makes the world of experimental fiction accessible by unraveling step by step the innovative strategies of those authors who play reading games

Francesca Hughes,2014-11-07 Why the rise of redundant precision in architecture and the accompanying fear of error are key to understanding the discipline s needs anxieties and desires When architects draw even brick walls to six decimal places with software designed to cut lenses it is clear that the logic that once organized relations between precision and material error in construction has unraveled Precision already a promiscuous term seems now to have been uncoupled from its contract with truthfulness Meanwhile error and the always political space of its dissent has reconfigured itself In The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes argues that behind the architect s acute fetishization of redundant precision lies a special fear of physical error What if we were to consider the pivotal cultural and technological transformations of modernism to have been driven not so much by the causes its narratives declare she asks as by an unspoken horror of loss of control over error material life and everything that matter stands for Hughes traces the rising intolerance of material vagaries from the removal of ornament to digitalized fabrication that produced the blind rejection of organic materials the proliferation of material testing and the rhetorical obstacles that blighted cybernetics Why is it she asks that the more we cornered physical error the more we feared it Hughes s analysis of redundant precision exposes an architecture of fear whose politics must be called into question Proposing error as a new category for architectural thought Hughes draws on other disciplines and practices that have interrogated precision and failure citing the work of scientists Nancy Cartwright and Evelyn Fox Keller and visual artists Gordon Matta Clark Barbara Hepworth Rachel Whiteread and others These non architect practitioners she argues show that error need not be excluded and precision can be made accountable The Use
