Geospatial Tools for Urban Water Resources Patrick L. Lawrence, 2012-09-04 This book examines the application of geotechniques to address a wide range of issues facing urban water resources Growing populations leading to urbanization and related development have lead to problems associated with water quality storm water management flood control environmental health and related ecosystem impacts Major cities and other urban areas are facing challenges in addressing the implications of impacts to water resources Recent innovations in geotechnologies including Geographic Information Science GIS remote sensing and other spatial tools and techniques provide great opportunities and potential to assist in dealing with these problems This volume provides a series of case studies that examine the application of new methods and approaches in a range of geotechnologies as utilized to better understand and resolve urban water resource concerns in communities throughout the world Computer based mapping spatial analysis satellite imagery decision support systems web based applications aerial photography and other methods are highlighted by their development and application The research presented in this volume will provide for an excellent source of knowledge and learning to assist professionals experts and students with a better understanding of how the use of geotechnologies can be used to assist urban communities to address water resource challenges

GIScience for the Sustainable Management of Water Resources Gowhar Meraj, Shruti Kanga, Majid Farooq, Suraj Kumar Singh, Sudhanshu, 2022-12-22 Water is one of the most critical resources of nature that is necessary for sustaining life for all living things This volume discusses in detail a selection of geospatial approaches tools and techniques for understanding the root causes behind the degradation of our water resources Satellite remote sensing provides essential data for mapping water resources hydrology flux measurement monitoring drought and flood inundation With an abundance of informative case studies this volume discusses the use of the satellite remote sensing and GIS based systems for managing urban storm water for flood and soil erosion management for mapping groundwater zones for crop production including measuring soil moisture and aridity for gauging the impact of climate change for evaluating glacier change dynamics for assessing the impact of urban growth on water resources for measuring the degradation of rivers and more

Water Policy and Governance in Canada Steven Renzetti, Diane P. Dupont, 2016-10-31 This book provides an insightful and critical assessment of the state of Canadian water governance and policy It adopts a multidisciplinary variety of perspectives and considers local basin provincial and national scales Canada s leading authorities from the social sciences life and natural sciences address pressing water issues in a non technical language making them accessible to a wide audience Even though Canada is seen as a water rich country with 7% of the world s reliable flow of freshwater and many of the world s largest rivers the country nevertheless faces a number of significant water related challenges stemming in part from supply demand imbalances but also a range of water quality issues Against the backdrop of a water policy landscape that has changed significantly in recent years this book therefore seeks to examine water related issues that are not only important for the future of Canadian water management but also provide insights into transboundary management non market valuation of water decentralized governance methods the growing importance of the role of First Nations peoples and other topics in water management that are vital to many jurisdictions globally The book also presents forward looking approaches such as resilience theory and geomatics to shed light on emerging water issues Researchers students and those directly involved in the management of Canadian waters will find this book a valuable source of insight In addition this book will appeal to policy analysts people concerned about Canadian water resources specifically as well as global water issues
