It is not necessary, of course, to believe that the world is a flat plane. The world is a sphere, and the surface of the sphere is curved. The surface of the sphere is curved in such a way that the distance between any two points on the surface is the same, no matter how far apart they are. This is the property of a sphere, and it is this property that makes it possible to travel from one point to another without ever leaving the surface of the sphere.
