Dear John Doe,

On Thursday, September 4th, 2020, I and my wife Jane visited your store Fifth Sense to purchase a luxury purse for our daughter. It was around 1.30 in the afternoon as we stepped into the store.

We were looking for a particular purse for our daughter and Alma Sixth BX. When we couldn't find it, we approached the counter asking for assistance but were ignored by the attendant Christie (as her name tag said) behind the counter as she was busy attending a call.

After she wrapped up the call, she put her phone down and said that the purse is not in stock after looking at the sidewall where the collection is placed without checking for the product, offering to order it online, or find it in some other inventory or storage rooms.

After such an ignorant response from Fifth Sense, we were very disheartened at buying the same purse from another store for our daughter.

We hope that you will speak to her and ask her to be more responsive and considerate to the customers.

Sincerely,

Jacqueline

The Global Political Economy of Sex: Desire, Violence, and Insecurity in Mediterranean Nation States

A. Agathangelou, 2004-10-14 At the intersection of the warmth of hearth and home and the dangers of the street lies the tenuous position of women engaged in reproductive labour those involved in the sex trade and those in domestic positions These are women who are vulnerable exploited and whose dirty work allows for the reproduction of traditional social mores and roles Yet while they are used to sustain tradition dialectically they reflect the hyperconnections of globalization through the migration of women the development of placement agencies that often are little but fronts for transnational crime and the transfer of money from the developed countries to the oppressed world This book focuses on the interaction of the global and the local through a close investigation of the political economy of desire and reproduction in three states that blur the line between developed and developing Greece Turkey and Cyprus These are countries at the crossroads in flux whose peripheral siting at the centre of global capitalism provides unusual insight into the dark recesses of patriarchy paternalism and exploitation
