Matric Maths Papers February March 2014:

The Training of African Teachers in Natal from 1846-1964 Nicolas Schicketanz, 2024-06-07 The history of African teacher training in Natal is one of the most neglected and under researched aspects of educational history This book attempts to set out the administrative history of this field as a first step in stimulating the further research that is so urgently needed Print edition not for sale in Sub Saharan Africa

Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience

Teacher Education in Professional Learning Communities Xuefeng Huang, 2018-06-20 This book explores the unique experiences of a sister school network in Canada and China contextualized through the lens of the Reciprocal Learning Project which supports the relationship between a school network and teacher education exchange program of two countries Huang uses theoretical viewpoints from teacher learning and comparative education research to analyse and interpret what has happened in the emerging cross cultural school network The book juxtaposes teacher learning and comparative education research from Shanghai and Ontario as teachers in the two places interact and provides detailed descriptions of teacher collaboration to show how these collaborations were initiated developed and sustained as well as the impact brought about from these collaborations The book offers a unique opportunity to examine how Canadian and Chinese teachers receive and react to opportunities of cross cultural collaboration and learning

Special Duty Richard J. Samuels, 2019-10-15 The prewar history of the Japanese intelligence community demonstrates how having power over much but insight into little can have devastating consequences Its postwar history one of limited Japanese power despite growing insight has also been problematic for national security In Special Duty Richard J Samuels dissects the fascinating history of the intelligence community in Japan Looking at the impact of shifts in the strategic environment technological change and past failures he probes the reasons why Japan has endured such a roller coaster ride when it comes to intelligence gathering and analysis and concludes that the ups and downs of the past century combined with growing uncertainties in the regional security environment have convinced Japanese leaders of the critical importance of striking balance between power and insight Using examples of excessive hubris and debilitating bureaucratic competition before the

Asia Pacific War the unavoidable dependence on US assets and popular sensitivity to security issues after World War II and the tardy adoption of image processing and cyber technologies Samuels bold book highlights the century long history of Japan s struggles to develop a fully functioning and effective intelligence capability and makes clear that Japanese leaders have begun to reinvent their nation s intelligence community Mathematical Modelling Education and Sense-making Gloria Ann Stillman,Gabriele Kaiser,Christine Erna Lampen,2020-05-14 This volume documents on going research and theorising in the sub field of mathematics education devoted to the teaching and learning of mathematical modelling and applications Mathematical modelling provides a way of conceiving and resolving problems in people s everyday lives as well as sophisticated new problems for society at large Mathematical modelling and real world applications are considered as having potential for cultivating sense making in classroom settings This book focuses on the educational perspective researching the complexities encountered in effective teaching and learning of real world modelling and applications for sense making is only beginning All authors of this volume are members of the International Community of Teachers of Mathematical Modelling ICTMA the peak research body into researching the teaching and learning of mathematical modelling at all levels of education from the early years to tertiary education as well as in the workplace Rural Education Across the World Simone White,Jayne Downey,2021-03-22 This book brings together authors from United States South Africa United Kingdom China Canada and Australia to provide insights and case studies from across a range of contexts to explore the interplay between the notions of rurality innovation and education The book reveals a hopeful and resilient approach to innovative rural education and scholarship collectively and provides important evidence to speak against an often deficit view of rural education Three patterns are revealed namely the importance of place attentive strategies the importance of joined up alliances to maximise resources and networks and finally the need to utilize alternative methodologies and frameworks that have a starting point of difference rather than deficit for any rural initiative or approach By drawing from international examples and responding in innovative ways to rural education challenges this book provides an opportunity to share international insights into innovations interventions and partnerships that promote and support rural education in its broadest sense Leadership Approaches to Negotiate Challenges in a Changing Education Landscape Leentjie van Jaarsveld,Kobus Mentz,Charl C. Wolhuter,2020-12-31 The argumentative point of departure of this scholarly book is the common conviction of specialists in the field of education in South Africa that the national education system is not at a satisfactory level in both the academic and the public discourse Such allegations are made and frequently stronger adjectives than non satisfactory are used Results of international test series in which South Africa has participated such as the 2015 TIMSS tests confirm the negative verdicts found in the public and scholarly discourse This book aims to argue that although the lack of performance could be attributed to a multiplicity of factors one factor that can make a difference in the achievement levels obtained by learners in schools is leadership The book demonstrates that a particular problem of both the scholarly and the public discourse on education in South Africa is an overtone of defeatism or resignation blaming all ills in the education system and educational institutions on historical legacies and or contextual factors such as socio economic deprivation in the catchment areas of schools or poor resources and infrastructure This collected work was inspired by a recently published spate of articles on top performing schools including top performing schools in rural communities in which it was demonstrated that good leadership can overcome such contextual and other challenges The book unpacks the issue of leadership in South African schools from a variety of perspectives thus contributing to the development of the scholarly discourse on Educational Leadership in South Africa The target audience of the book is scholars of Educational Leadership The research reported in the chapters draw on a wide range of methodologies including empirical survey research questionnaires and interviews critical literature surveys and the comparative method

Nixon's Nuclear Specter William Burr, Jeffrey P. Kimball, 2015-06-15 In their initial effort to end the Vietnam War Richard Nixon and Henry Kissinger attempted to lever concessions from Hanoi at the negotiating table with military force and coercive diplomacy They were not seeking military victory which they did not believe was feasible Instead they backed up their diplomacy toward North Vietnam and the Soviet Union with the Madman Theory of threatening excessive force which included the specter of nuclear force They began with verbal threats then bombed North Vietnamese and Viet Cong base areas in Cambodia signaling that there was more to come As the bombing expanded they launched a previously unknown mining ruse against Haiphong stepped up their warnings to Hanoi and Moscow and initiated planning for a massive shock and awe military operation referred to within the White House inner circle as DUCK HOOK Beyond the mining of North Vietnamese ports and selective bombing in and around Hanoi the initial DUCK HOOK concept included proposals for tactical nuclear strikes against logistics targets and U S and South Vietnamese ground incursions into the North In early October 1969 however Nixon aborted planning for the long contemplated operation He had been influenced by Hanoi s defiance in the face of his dire threats and concerned about U S public reaction antiwar protests and internal administration dissent In place of DUCK HOOK Nixon and Kissinger launched a secret global nuclear alert in hopes that it would lend credibility to their prior warnings and perhaps even persuade Moscow to put pressure on Hanoi It was to be a special reminder of how far President Nixon might go The risky gambit failed to move the Soviets but it marked a turning point in the administration s strategy for exiting Vietnam Nixon and Kissinger became increasingly resigned to a long route policy of providing Saigon with a decent chance of survival for a decent interval after a negotiated settlement and U S forces left Indochina Burr and Kimball draw upon extensive research in participant interviews and declassified documents to unravel this intricate story of the October 1969 nuclear alert They place it in the context of nuclear threat making and coercive diplomacy since 1945 the culture of the Bomb intra governmental dissent domestic political pressures the international nuclear taboo and Vietnamese and Soviet actions and policies It is a history that holds important lessons for the present and future about the risks and uncertainties of nuclear threat making
