Beatty, 1996 This book describes results from the 1994 National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP assessment in U S history conducted at grades 4 8 and 12 Included in this report card are the results of students achievement at each grade and within various subgroups of the general population The report discusses the relationships between student performance and instructional and home background variables This information gives educators a context for evaluating the U S history achievement of students and the results that may be used to guide reform efforts Chapters include 1 NAEP 1994 U S History Assessment 2 U S History Results for the Nation and Regions 3 U S History Achievement Levels 4 Contexts in which Students Learn History and 5 What Students Know and Can Do in U S History A conclusion three appendices 52 tables and 13 figures complete the book EH NAEP 1998 Reading Report Card for the Nation, 1999 The NAEP 1997 Arts Report Card Hilary R. Persky, Brent A. Sandene, Janice M. Askew, 1998 The last several years have seen a growing resolve among educators and policymakers to assure the place of a solid arts education in U S schools In 1997 the National Assessment of Educational Progress NAEP conducted a national assessment in the arts at grade 8. The assessment included the areas of music, theater, and visual arts. For each of these arts areas, this Report Card describes the achievement of eighth graders within the general population and in various subgroups. Taken with the information provided about instructional and institutional variables, this report gives a context for evaluating the status of students learning in the arts. The arts assessment was designed to measure the content specifications described in the arts framework for NAEP. The arts have a unique capacity to integrate intellect, emotions, and physical skills in the creation of meaning. Meaningful arts assessments need to be built around three arts processes: creating, performing, and responding. To capture these processes, the arts assessment exercises included authentic tasks that assessed students' knowledge and skills and constructed response and multiple choice questions that explore students' abilities to describe, analyze, interpret, and evaluate works of art in written form. Data are reported in overall summaries for creating, performing, and responding in terms of student and school reported background variables. Student results for theater are discussed in terms of teacher reported background variables as well. The major findings of the assessment are that a large percentage of grade 8 students attend schools in which music and visual arts were taught usually by specialists; most students attended schools in which instruction following district or state curricula was offered in music and visual arts but not in theater or dance; and most visual arts and music instruction took place in school facilities that were dedicated to that subject. Nation's Report Card: U.S. History 2010 Samantha Burg, 2011 Assessing the Nation's Report Card Chester E. Finn, 2022-08-23

Assessing the Nation's Report Card examines the history of the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP) and outlines plans for improving and modernizing the organization. Educational policy analyst Chester E. Finn Jr. imparts a rare inside analysis of the evolution of the NAEP program at key moments in its history and provides a firsthand perspective of crucial decisions and core goals that have helped shape it. The result is a revealing survey of the U.S.'s most influential source of data on K-12 achievement. Assessing the Nation's Report Card offers readers an in-depth understanding and appreciation of NAEP as well as an examination of its shortcomings, its controversies, and its current issues. The book explores why NAEP is considered the gold standard of educational assessments yet is much lesser known than other types of standardized testing. Finn underscores the promise of applying the results in addressing achievement gaps, boosting federal accountability, and driving education reform and policy. He also discloses how the data are collected and what the results can and cannot tell us. For more than 50 years, this ambitious federal testing program has informed the decisions of policy makers and educational leaders as they advocate for educational improvements in the U.S. Acknowledging the nation's evolving need for actionable information about students and schools, Finn provides an assured and rare overview of the existing program and proposes possibilities for the future.
