

The background of the cover is a misty, teal-toned landscape. It features several bare, dark trees standing in a body of water, their forms reflected in the calm surface. The sky is a pale, hazy teal, and the overall atmosphere is somber and mysterious.

Forty Words For Sorrow Giles Blunt:

Forty Words for Sorrow Giles Blunt, 2010-04-30 Now a major television series CARDINAL and the first book in the John Cardinal series When four teenagers go missing in the small northern town of Algonquin Bay the extensive police investigation comes up empty Everyone is ready to give up except Detective John Cardinal an all too human loner whose persistence only serves to get him removed from homicide Haunted by a criminal secret in his own past and hounded by a special investigation into corruption on the force Cardinal is on the brink of losing his career and his family Then the mutilated body of thirteen year old Katie Pine is pulled out of an abandoned mineshaft And only Cardinal is willing to consider the horrible truth that this quiet town is home to the most vicious of serial killers The case as it unfolds proves eerily reminiscent of the Moors murders in Britain as an unassuming young man and his belligerently loyal girlfriend scout young victims for their macabre games With the media the provincial police and his own department questioning his every move Cardinal follows increasingly tenuous threads towards the unthinkable Time isn't only running out for him but for another young victim tied up in a basement wondering when and how his captors will kill him contains thirteen essays on many of Canada's most popular crime writers including Peter Robinson, Giles Blunt, Gail Bowen, Thomas King, Michael Slade, Margaret Atwood, and Anthony Bidulka. Genres examined range from the well-loved police procedural and the amateur sleuth to those less well-known such as anti-detection and contemporary noir novels. The book looks critically at the esteemed sixties television show Wojeck as well as the more recent series Da Vinci's Inquest, Da Vinci's City Hall, and Intelligence and the controversial Durham County, a critically acclaimed but violent television series that ran successfully in both Canada and the United States. The essays in Detecting Canada look at texts from a variety of perspectives including postcolonial studies, gender and queer studies, feminist studies, Indigenous studies, and critical race and class studies. Crime fiction enjoyed by so many around the world speaks to all of us about justice, citizenship, and important social issues in an uncertain world.

Read 'Em Their Writes Gary Warren Niebuhr, 2006-09-30 Presents a guide for mystery book clubs discussing how to organize groups, get participants choose titles, prepare for meetings, and administer discussions.

No Such Creature Giles Blunt, 2009-04-27 In this gritty heist thriller by a Silver Dagger winning author, a pair of thieves finds themselves in an exhilarating game of cat and mouse. Eight years ago, Owen Maxwell was saved from a foster home by the arrival of his uncle Max from England. Once a promising Shakespearean actor, Magnus Max Maxwell has since put his dramatic skills to new use: a master of disguise, a virtuoso of foreign dialects, and a performer to his core, he has become an extremely successful gentleman thief. Every summer, Max and Owen take a road trip across the United States, pulling off elaborate robberies along the way. But this year is different. Their first dazzlingly executed summer heist captures the interest of the Subtractors. Long believed an urban myth, the Subtractors are a gang of vicious thieves who prey on other thieves. They will abduct a fellow crook known to have completed a lucrative job and proceed to subtract parts of his body until he tells them where they can find the loot. No such creature, Max says, when Owen first suspects that they may be in the Subtractors' sights. But in this, as in so many things, Max will prove to be disastrously wrong.
