networks of religious sociability and ritual communities among women as well as women's remarkable acts of private piety. Amsler's exhaustive archival research and attention to material culture reveals new insights about women's agency and domestic activities illuminating areas of Chinese and Catholic history that have remained obscure if not entirely invisible for far too long. The open access publication of this book was made possible by grants from the Swiss National Science Foundation and the James P. Geiss and Margaret Y. Hsu Foundation.

The Interpretation of Tang Christianity in the Late Ming China Mission Matteo Nicolini-Zani, 2023-04-24. The book contains the first annotated English translation of the Correct Explanation of the Tang Stele Eulogy on the Luminous Teaching 1644 by the Jesuit Manuel Dias Jr and other late Ming Chinese Christian sources interpreting the venerable ancestor of the Jesuit mission, namely the mission of the Church of the East in Tang China. Based on this documentation, the book reconstructs the process of appropriation by Jesuit missionaries and their Chinese converts of ancient traces of Christianity that were discovered in China in the first half of the seventeenth century, such as the Xi'an stele 781 and other Christian relics.

War and Occupation in China Charles Bright, Joseph W. Ho, 2017-10-23. A fresh eyewitness account of the Japanese invasion of mid China in 1937-1938. These letters by an American missionary in Hangzhou provide a vividly detailed first-hand account of the spread of war from Shanghai across the Yangtze valley and the subsequent ordeals of military occupation seen against the better-known backdrop of the Nanjing Massacre. One man's embedded experience in one major Chinese city of one chaotic year of war. Already 25 years in Republican China and fluent in the language when the Japanese arrived, the author was well-placed as both an observer of and participant in harrowing events: the provost of the Hangzhou Christian College and responsible for its campus; president of the local Red Cross which organized refugee camps and shelter for those displaced by the looting and raping that ensued; and chairman of an International Committee which sought to mediate between Japanese and Chinese forces in an effort to limit destruction and then to negotiate with the occupation regime on a day-to-day basis. The letters, written twice weekly, describe pitched battles and aerial bombing, the fearful conditions of civilian refugees, the exigencies of the missionary enterprise, and the experiences of foreign neutrals in wartime China, as well as the practical dilemmas of collaboration that arose under occupation: moving about, protecting refugees, procuring food, tending a dairy herd, and ministering to embattled congregations. The letters are fully annotated to give readers a fuller perspective on places, people, and events that surround the eyewitness accounts. A substantially researched introductory essay provides necessary historical background and situates the author in a longer missionary career that began in 1911 and ended with wartime internment in 1943.

Protection and Industry Swire, Sir Smith, Walter M.P., Runciman, Hugh, Bell, S.G., Hobson, Arthur, Wadham, James, Prof. Long, Elijah M.A., Helm, Charles, Sir McLaren, M.P., Bart., William Burton, Alfred Mond, "A City Editor", 2018-12-14. First published in 1904, this volume emerged during a split within the Liberal Unionist Party over Joseph

Chamberlain's advocacy of Protectionism through Tariff Reform Having originally broken with the Liberal Party over Home Rule in 1885 1904 saw some Liberal Unionists return to the Liberal fold The authors here constitute those departing Liberal Unionists in a multifaceted rallying call for Free Trade in the face of Protectionism Their articles on subjects such as Shipping Agriculture and Engineering assess the implications of Free Trade with a focus on each author's specialist industry The authors unanimously declare in favour of the system under which they maintain Great Britain developed unparalleled prosperity and taught other nations her industrial success In the process they demonstrate that trade cannot improve whilst fettered and focus on the potential for real improvements through Free Trade Forgive Us Our Sins Ad Dudink, Nicolas Standaert, 2023-05-31 Confession in early modern Europe has been the subject of several studies But what happened to the confessional practice when it moved to other cultures This is the major research question of the present book as applied to late Ming and early Qing China The origin of this research can be traced back to the Handbook of Christianity in China Volume One 635 1800 Leiden 2000 compiled by researchers of the K U Leuven in collaboration with an international team of circa twenty scholars As a reference work the Handbook comprehensively presents many different aspects of Christianity in China including sciences arts and crafts But there was one major absentee ritual which is often considered essential for understanding China A first step in filling this gap was the organisation of an international workshop on Chinese and Christian Rituality in Late Imperial China Leuven June 2004 The present volume includes the revised contributions by Eugenio Menegon and Erik Zürcher and a reworked version of an article by Liam Brockey as well as the edition of the primary source he used for his article a confessional manual composed by Jose Monteiro S J 1646 1720 These articles portray from different angles one of the sacramental rituals viz that of confession Cyndi's List Cyndi Howells, 2001 A two volume set which provides researchers with more than 70 000 links to every conceivable genealogical resource on the Internet
