

Reflection Essay

With completing the first term in the Constructed Self class, I was able to benefit from a variety of new things from the class, as well as refresh my memory on things that I already knew, just needed a reminder about.

The biggest hurdle in the class for me was time management. I am a procrastinator and always have been, so completing assignments on time was and still is a challenge for me. I have not come to a full solution to this problem yet, but I did make changes in my life as to how I can manage time management. I found that it was easier for me to focus on homework if I was outside my dorm room, because when in my dorm, I would usually mess around on the internet or take naps. I don't think realistically I will get over procrastination anytime soon, but I can manage it.

With hurdles came hidden strengths I discovered about myself. I've never thought of myself as a leader, but because the class used group thinking in more than one occasion, I found that I am a good leader. I communicate my ideas to the group while trying to balance the ideas of others so the group can come to an agreed upon decision. Obviously this can benefit me no matter what career I decide to go into, because the ability to take control of a situation and still remain diplomatic with colleagues is a valuable asset to have. Other than this, I can't think of any other strength I discovered. I

Creating Contexts for Learning and Self-authorship Marcia

B. Baxter Magolda, 1999 This book is intended to help college faculty create conditions in which students learn to construct knowledge in their disciplines and achieve self authorship A significant and often overlooked dimension mediating learning and self authorship centers on learners ways of knowing or their assumptions about the nature limits and certainty of knowledge A learner who assumes that all knowledge is certain expects to hear answers from an authority figure in contrast a learner who views knowledge as relative expects to explore multiple viewpoints By taking a constructive developmental approach the author demonstrates how students ability to construct knowledge is intertwined with the development of their assumptions about knowledge itself and their role in creating it She shows how the structure of constructive developmental teaching hinges on three principles validating students ability to know situating learning in students experience and defining learning as teachers and students mutually constructing meaning The book also takes abstract pedagogical principles and translates them into practical approaches

Handbook of Research on Creating Meaningful Experiences in Online Courses Kyei-Blankson, Lydia, Ntuli, Esther, Blankson, Joseph, 2019-11-29 While online courses are said to be beneficial and many reputable brick and mortar higher education institutions are now offering undergraduate and graduate programs online there is still ongoing debate on issues related to credibility and acceptability There is some reluctance to teach online and to admit and hire students who have enrolled in online programs Given these concerns it is essential that educators in online communities continue to share the significant learning experiences and outcomes that occur in online classrooms and highlight pedagogical practices used by online instructors to make their courses and programs comparable to those offered face to face The Handbook of Research on Creating Meaningful Experiences in Online Courses is a comprehensive research book that examines the quality of courses in higher education that are offered exclusively online and details strategies and practices used by online instructors to create meaningful teaching and learning experiences in online courses Featuring a range of topics such as gamification professional development and learning outcomes this book is ideal for academicians researchers educators administrators instructional designers curriculum developers higher education faculty and students

Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry Nona Lyons, 2010-04-07 Philosophers have warned of the perils of a life spent without reflection but what constitutes reflective inquiry and why it s necessary in our lives can be an elusive concept Synthesizing ideas from minds as diverse as John Dewey and Paulo Freire the Handbook of Reflection and Reflective Inquiry presents reflective thought in its most vital aspects not as a fanciful or nostalgic exercise but as a powerful means of seeing familiar events anew encouraging critical thinking and crucial insight teaching and learning In its opening pages two seasoned educators Maxine Greene and Lee Shulman discuss reflective inquiry as a form of active attention Thoreau s wide awakesness an act of consciousness and a process by which people can understand themselves their work particularly in the form of life projects and others Building on this foundation the Handbook analyzes through the work of 40 internationally oriented authors Definitional issues concerning reflection what it is and is not Worldwide social and moral conditions

Whiteness and White Privilege in Psychotherapy Andrea Dottolo, Ellyn Kaschak, 2018-02-02 This unprecedented interdisciplinary collection focuses on gender whiteness and white privilege and sheds light on this understudied subject matter in the context of clinical psychology in both theories and applications Psychologists especially therapists are often trained to look for issues that are not readily visible cannot be spoken and that are commonly taken for granted Feminist and multi cultural researchers and practitioners further seek to expose the power structures that benefit them or that unfairly advantage some groups over others Whiteness has been investigated by sociologists and critical race theorists but has been largely overlooked by psychologists and psychotherapists even those who deal with feminist and multi cultural issues This volume explores the ways in which gender whiteness and white privilege intersect in the therapy room bringing to light that which is often unseen and thus unnamed while examining issues of epistemology theory supervision and practice in feminist therapies The various contributions encompass theory history empirical research personal reflections and practical teaching strategies for the classroom The authors remind us that whiteness and other forms of privilege are situated among multiple other forces structures identities and experiences and cannot be examined alone without context This book was originally published as a special issue of Women Therapy

Tutorial Ideas for Educators on The Run Michele Jarldorn, Teaching in Blended Learning Environments Norman D. Vaughan, Martha Cleveland-Innes, D. Randy Garrison, 2013-12-01 Teaching in Blended Learning Environments provides a coherent framework in which to explore the transformative concept of blended learning Blended learning can be defined as the organic integration of thoughtfully selected and complementary face to face and online approaches and technologies A direct result of the transformative innovation of virtual communication and online learning communities blended learning environments have created new ways for teachers and students to engage interact and collaborate The authors argue that this new learning environment necessitates significant role adjustments for instructors and generates a need to understand the aspects of teaching presence required of deep and meaningful learning outcomes Built upon the theoretical framework of the Community of Inquiry the premise that higher education is both a collaborative and individually constructivist learning experience the authors present seven principles that provide a valuable set of tools for harnessing the opportunities for teaching and learning available through technology Focusing on teaching practices related to the design facilitation direction and assessment of blended learning experiences Teaching in Blended Learning Environments addresses the growing demand for improved teaching in higher education
