Marketing Schools, Marketing Cities Maia Bloomfield Cucchiara, 2013-05-25 Discuss real estate with any young family and the subject of schools is certain to come up in fact it will likely be a crucial factor in determining where that family lives Not merely institutions of learning schools have increasingly become a sign of a neighborhood's vitality and city planners have ever more explicitly promoted good schools as a means of attracting more affluent families to urban areas a dynamic process that Maia Bloomfield Cucchiara critically examines in Marketing Schools Marketing Cities Focusing on Philadelphia's Center City Schools Initiative she shows how education policy makes overt attempts to prevent or at least slow middle class flight to the suburbs Navigating complex ethical terrain she balances the successes of such policies in strengthening urban schools and communities against the inherent social injustices they propagate the further marginalization and disempowerment of lowerclass families By asking what happens when affluent parents become valued customers Marketing Schools Marketing Cities uncovers a problematic relationship between public institutions and private markets where the former are used to leverage the latter to effect urban transformations
