An Analysis of Mahmood Mamdani's Citizen and Subject Meike de Goede, 2017-07-05 Mahmood Mamdani's 1996 Citizen and Subject is a powerful work of analysis that lays bare the sources of the problems that plagued and often still plague African governments Analysis is one of the broadest and most fundamental critical thinking skills and involves understanding the structure and features of arguments Mamdani's strong analytical skills form the basis of an original investigation of the problems faced by the independent African governments in the wake of the collapse of the colonial regimes imposed by European powers such as Great Britain and France. It had long been clear that these newly independent governments faced many problems: corruption, the imposition of anti-democratic rule, and many basic failures of day-to-day governance. They also tended to replicate many of the racially and ethnically prejudiced structures that were part of colonial rule. Mamdani analyses the many arguments about the sources of these problems, drawing out their hidden implications and assumptions in order to clear the way for his own creative new vision of the way to overcome the obstacles to democratization in Africa. A dense and brilliant analysis of the true nature of colonialism's legacy in Africa, Mamdani's book remains influential to this day. The End of Empires and a World Remade Martin Thomas, 2024-03-19

A capacious history of decolonization from the decline of empires to the era of globalization. Empires until recently were everywhere. They shaped borders, stirred conflicts, and set the terms of international politics. With the collapse of empire came a fundamental reorganization of our world. Decolonization unfolded across territories as well as within them. Its struggles became internationalized and transnational as much as global campaigns of moral disarmament against colonial injustice as local contests of arms. In this expansive history, Martin Thomas tells the story of decolonization and its intrinsic link to globalization. He traces the connections between these two transformative processes: the end of formal empire and the acceleration of global integration, market reorganization, cultural exchange, and migration. The End of Empires and a World Remade shows how profoundly decolonization shaped the process of globalization in the wake of empire collapse. In the second half of the twentieth century, decolonization catalyzed new international coalitions, it triggered partitions and wars, and it reshaped North-South dynamics. Globalization promised the decolonized greater access to essential resources, to wider networks of influence, and to worldwide audiences, but its neoliberal variant has reinforced economic inequalities and imperial forms of political and cultural influences. In surveying these two codependent histories across the world, from Latin America to Asia, Thomas explains why the deck was so heavily stacked against newly independent nations. Decolonization stands alongside the great world wars as the most transformative event of twentieth-century history. In The End of Empires and a World Remade, Thomas offers a masterful analysis of the greatest process of state-making and empire-unmaking in modern history. Second-Generation Liberation Wars Yaniv Voller, 2022-02-24

The formation of post-colonial states in Africa and the Middle East gave birth to prolonged separatist wars. Exploring the evolution of these separatist wars, Yaniv Voller examines the strategies that both governments and insurgents employed, how these strategies were shaped by the previous struggle against European colonialism, and the practices and roles that emerged in the subsequent period, which moulded the identities, aims, and strategies of post-colonial governments and separatist rebels. Based on a wealth of primary sources, Voller focuses on two post-colonial separatist wars: In Iraq, Kurdistan between Kurdish separatists and the government in Baghdad, and Southern Sudan between black African insurgents and the government in Khartoum. By providing an account of both conflicts, he offers a new understanding of colonialism, decolonisation, and the international politics of the post-colonial world. Suspended Lives Bridget Marie

Haas,2023-04-25 Suspended Lives vividly explores the everyday experiences of asylum seekers in the United States Drawing on long term ethnographic fieldwork among a diverse group of asylum seekers Bridget M Haas traces the emotional psychological and social effects of being embedded in the US asylum regime Appealing to the United States for protection asylum seekers are cast into a complex and protracted bureaucratic system that increasingly sees them as threatening or suspicious Haas takes readers into the intimate spaces of asylum seekers homes and communities as well as into legal and bureaucratic settings that are often inaccessible to the public Poignantly foregrounding the lived experiences and voices of asylum seekers Suspended Lives exposes the asylum system as a site of multiple yet often hidden and normalized forms of violence In doing so Haas also illuminates how asylum seekers respond to these harms to actively endure the asylum process

Peace in Political Unsettlement Jan Pospisil,2018-12-11 International peacebuilding has reached an impasse Its lofty ambitions have resulted in at best middling success punctuated by moments of outright failure The discrediting of the term liberal peacebuilding has seen it evolve to respond to the numerous critiques Notions such as inclusive peace merge the liberal paradigm with critical notions of context and the need to refine practices to take account of the local or complexity However how this would translate into clear guidance for the practice of peacebuilding is unclear Paradoxically contemporary peacebuilding policy has reached an unprecedented level of vagueness Peace in political unsettlement provides an alternative response rooted in a new discourse which aims to speak both to the experience of working in peace process settings It maps a new understanding of peace processes as institutionalising formalised political unsettlement and points out new ways of engaging with it The book points to the ways in which peace processes institutionalise forms of disagreement creating ongoing processes to manage it rather than resolve it It suggests a modest approach of providing hooks to future processes maximising the use of creative non solutions and practices of disrelation are discussed as pathways for pragmatic post war transitions It is only by understanding the nature and techniques of formalised political unsettlement that new constructive ways of engaging with it can be found

In Search of Tunga André Chappatte,2022-11-01 This volume on Muslim life focuses on young male migrants of rural origin who move to build better lives in Bougouni a provincial town in southwest Mali Describing themselves as simply Muslims and adventurers these migrants aim to be both prosperous and good Muslims Drawing upon seventeen months of fieldwork author Andr Chappatte explores their sense of prosperity and piety as they embark on tunga adventure a customary search for money and more in a tradition that dates back to the colonial period In the context of the current global war on terrorism most studies of Muslim life have focused on the politics of piety of reformist movements their leaders and members By contrast In Search of Tunga takes a perspective from below It opens piety up to simply Muslims although the religious elites have always claimed authority and legitimacy over piety Is piety an exclusive field of experiences for those who claim to strive for it What does piety involve for the majority of Muslims the non elite and unaffiliated Muslims This volume democratizes piety by documenting its practice as going beyond sharply defined religious affiliations and Islamic scholarship and by showing it is both alive and normative existential and prescriptive As opposed to studies that build on the classic historical connections between the Maghreb and the Sahel the southbound migration from the Sahel documented in this book stresses the overlooked historical connections between the southern shores of the Sahara and the lands south of those shores It demonstrates how the Malian savanna this former buffer zone between ancient Mande kingdoms and thereafter remote areas of French Sudan is increasingly becoming central in today's Sahel contexts of desiccation and insecurity Decolonizing African Politics Michael Amoah, 2025-06-07 This book serves as a unique contribution to the curriculum decolonizing agenda currently trending in universities It approaches Politics and International Relations from the postcolonial and decolonial perspectives with empirical rebuttals to existing imperial and neocolonial false narratives It examines key concepts and topics which regularly feature when teaching or discussing Africa at universities such as nationhood and nationalisms neo patrimonialism arbitrary borders and tribes from Africa superpower relations relationships with China South South cooperation and collaborations foreign interventions global justice global governance and reform of the UN Security Council This book explores the etymologies of these concepts or topics and their terminological application to Africa while bringing fresh perspectives to the debate It appeals to scholars and students of African politics and international relations and functions as a graduate and advanced undergraduate pedagogical tool

African Economies and the Politics of Permanent Crisis, 1979-1999 Nicolas Van de Walle, 2001-09-24 This 2001 book explains why African countries have remained mired in a disastrous economic crisis since the late 1970s It shows that dynamics internal to African state structures largely explain this failure to overcome economic difficulties rather than external pressures on these same structures as is often argued Far from being prevented from undertaking reforms by societal interest and pressure groups clientelism within the state elite ideological factors and low state capacity have resulted in some limited reform but much prevarication and manipulation of the reform process by governments which do not really believe that reform will be effective which often oppose reforms because they would undercut the patronage and rent seeking practices which undergird political authority and which lack the administrative and technical capacity to implement much reform Over time state decay has increased

Africa in Global International Relations Paul-Henri Bischoff, Kwesi Aning, Amitav Acharya, 2015-10-05 Recent scholarship in International Relations IR has started to study the meaning and implications of a non Western world With this comes the need for a new paradigm of IR theory that is more global open inclusive and able to capture the voices and experiences of both Western and non Western worlds This book investigates why Africa has been marginalised in IR discipline and theory and how this issue can be addressed in the context of the emerging Global IR paradigm To have relevance for Africa a new IR theory needs to be more inclusive intellectually negotiated and holistically steeped in the African context In this innovative volume each author takes a critical look at existing IR paradigms and offers a unique perspective based on the African experience Following on from
