the 21st Century Carl W. Dundas, 2015-05-26 This work aims to promote the concept of reducing the incidence of election irregularities and requiring less intervention by the court or similar disputes resolution mechanisms The essence of this new approach is to place much greater emphasis on drastically reducing errors through noncompliance with electoral laws and particularly rules regulations and directives which result in election irregularities This approach may require greater clarity in drafting election rules and regulations as well as more intense monitoring and warning systems developed by EMBs to ensure a high degree of accuracy in the preparation and polling processes This concept proceeds on the basis that in general election stakeholders wish to see the genuine results of the democratic process without diversions to the court or similar assistance being brought into action

Living on the Edge Susan Snyman, Kelly S. Bricker, 2021-05-06 Tourism has an essential role in terms of contributing to the financial sustainability of protected areas. In addition, through effective and efficient benefit sharing, tourism can positively impact numerous stakeholders within and beyond the protected area. Living on the Edge: Benefit Sharing from Protected Area Tourism highlights the complexity of benefit sharing, the importance of identifying all relevant stakeholders, the challenges of ensuring equity and sustainability, and the critical importance of good governance. The evolution of benefit sharing mechanisms over time also emphasizes a continuing need to evolve and adapt to each unique situation, as much evidence indicates that little has changed for those living on the edge. Although this book focuses on benefit sharing from protected area tourism, it is essential to acknowledge that along with these benefits are costs associated with tourism, including possible increased local prices, loss of access to land, human-wildlife conflict, and other related costs. The contributing authors agree that benefit sharing must include good governance, accountability, equity, transparency, a broad reach of stakeholder engagement, and a robust combination of tangible and intangible benefits, with recognition that benefit sharing systems need to be adaptive and evolve as needed according to the relevant situation. The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Sustainable Tourism.

Regional Spillovers in Sub-Saharan Africa Margaux MacDonald, Mr. Montfort Mlachila, Mustafa Yenice, Francisco Arizala, Mr. Matthieu Bellon, 2018-08-01 After close to two decades of strong economic activity, overall growth in sub-Saharan Africa decelerated markedly in 2015-16 as the largest economies experienced negative or flat growth. Regional growth started recovering in 2017, but the question remains of how trends in the economies stuck in low gear will spill over to the countries that have maintained robust growth. This note illuminates the discussion by identifying growth spillover channels. The focus is on trade, banking, financial remittance, investment, fiscal, and security channels, which are the most prominent and most likely to transmit growth trends across borders. In addition to bringing together findings from a broad array of existing research, the note identifies countries that are the most likely sources of regional spillovers and those that are most likely to be impacted, and provides estimates for the size of these channels. It finds that intraregional trade and remittance flows are an important channel for growth spillovers, while banking channels are less important but will remain a risk going forward. Finally, the note documents other important spillover channels through financial markets, contagion, revenue sharing arrangements in fiscal unions, commodity pricing policies, corporate investment, and forced migration. The main takeaway is that the level of interdependence among sub-Saharan countries is higher than is generally assumed. Consequently, there is a need for additional emphasis on regional surveillance and spillover analysis along with traditional bilateral surveillance.
