Deshors,Sandra Götz,Samantha Laporte,2018-07-19 At a time when the paradigm gap Sridhar Sridhar 1986 between the EFL and ESL research areas is attracting much scholarly attention the contributions in the current volume explore this gap from the perspective of linguistic innovations across the two different types of non native Englishes In this endeavour this volume unveils the many facets of linguistic innovations in non native English varieties and explores the fine line between learners erroneous versus creative use of a target language Adopting empirical corpus based approaches to portray linguistic innovations characteristic of EFL and ESL varieties the contributions show how the interaction of linguistic and social forces influences the development of novel linguistic forms in both endonormative ESL contexts and exonormative

EFL contexts This volume is of relevance to linguists who are interested in the features of non native English and who wish to gain a better understanding of the nature of innovations along the EFL ESL continuum Originally published as a special issue of International Journal of Learner Corpora Research 2 2 2016 Science Education in Countries Along the Belt & Road Ronghuai Huang, Bing Xin, Ahmed Tlili, Feng Yang, Xiangling Zhang, Lixin Zhu, Mohamed Jemni, 2022-01-18 This book aims to highlight science education in countries along the Belt and Road It consists of 30 chapters divided into three main parts namely Arab and African countries Asian countries and European countries We invited science education experts from 29 Belt and Road countries to introduce the current status of science education in their countries and the new requirements with the rapid evolution of Information Technology The major contributions of this book include 1 Provide the current status of science education in countries along the Belt and Road as well as the requirement for developing and improving science education in these countries 2 Discuss new insights of science education in future years 3 Inspire stakeholders to take effective initiatives to develop science education in countries along the Belt and Road Elusive Equity Edward B. Fiske, Helen F. Ladd, 2004-07-29 Elusive Equity chronicles South Africa s efforts to fashion a racially equitable state education system from the ashes of apartheid The policymakers who came to power with Nelson Mandela in 1994 inherited an education system designed to further the racist goals of apartheid Their massive challenge was to transform that system which lavished human and financial resources on schools serving white students while systematically starving those serving African coloured and Indian learners into one that would offer quality education to all persons regardless of their race Edward Fiske and Helen Ladd describe and evaluate the strategies that South Africa pursued in its quest for racial equity They draw on previously unpublished data interviews with key officials and visits to dozens of schools to describe the changes made in school finance teacher assignment policies governance curriculum higher education and other areas They conclude that the country has made remarkable progress toward equity in the sense of equal treatment of persons of all races For several reasons however the country has been far less successful in promoting equal educational opportunity or educational adequacy Thus equity has remained elusive The book is unique in combining the perceptive observations of a skilled education journalist with the analytical skills of an academic policy expert Richly textured descriptions of how South Africa s education reforms have affected schools at the grass roots level are combined with careful analysis of enrollment governance and budget data at the school provincial and national levels The result is a compelling and comprehensive study of South Africa s first decade of education reform in the post apartheid period Drum , 2009-04 Annual Report South Africa. Department of Basic Education, 2016 Research for Educational Change Jill Adler, Anna Sfard, 2016-06-17 Research for Educational Change presents ways in which educational research can fulfil its commitments to educational practice Focussing its discussion within the context of mathematics education it argues that while research generated insights can have beneficial effects on learning and teaching the question of how these effects are to be generated and sustained is far from evident The question of how to turn research into educational improvement is discussed here in the context of learning and teaching hindered by poverty and social injustice In the first part of the book four teams of researchers use different methodologies while analysing the same corpus of data collected in a South African mathematics classroom In the second part each of these teams makes a specific proposal about what can be done and how so that its research generated insights have a tangible beneficial impact on what is happening in mathematical classrooms Combining two discourses that of researchers speaking to one another and that of researchers communicating their insights to those responsible for educational practice the book deals with the perennial question of communication between those who study educational processes and those who are directly responsible for teacher education educational research and classroom practices This book will be key reading for postgraduates researchers and academics in education and particularly in the areas of mathematics education education research teacher education and classroom practice It will also appeal to teacher educators practitioners and undergraduate students interested in educational research X-kit FET Grade 12 GEOGRAPHY ,2008
